RED CROSS TO CLOSE OFFICE; OUT OF FUNDS

All Activities of Marion County Chapter Will Be Halted July 1

FUTURE UNCERTAIN

Officials Not Sure If Roll Call Will Be Held Here Next Fall

As a result of citizens having failed to raise sufficient funds for Red Cross operations here, the Marion County chapter of the organization will close its headquarters and cease all activities on July 1.

The decision to bring the chapter activities to a close on that date was made by the executive committee at a meeting held last night when report was received that funds now in the treasury will be exhausted on July 1 and that no source of additional revenue is in sight.

This means that Marion County will be without an active Red Cross chapter for the first time since 1917, when the local organization was formed for service during the World War and has continued as the community's chief public relief, charity and health prevention agency.

No move has been set for resuming the operations and none can be set, officials of the organization state, until it is ascertained that citizens are willing to supply the necessary funds.

May Hold Campaign

It is thought that the annual roll call campaign for the purpose of obtaining money to finance the Red Cross, will be held in the fall but this will not be definitely decided until later. Whether an effort will be made to reorganize the organization and restore it to its former effectiveness will depend almost entirely upon the attitude of the public, Red Cross officials indicated today.

The chapter will retain its quarters in the Trumbull Apartments, S. Main st, temporarily after July 1, pending developments. Should the prospects of a successful roll call not be favorable in the fall, it is probable that the rooms will be permanently vacated.

The services of three full-time employes of the Red Cross Chapter will terminate when the closing order goes into effect on July 1. They are Miss Miss Doughty, executive secretary, and Mrs. Clara Geer and Mrs. Leta Maugans, public health nurses.

One Health Nurse

This will leave only one public health nurse on duty in the city. The one to remain in service is Mrs. Walter E. Hane, who is employed by the city board of health and who has been working in close cooperation with Mrs. Geer and Mrs. Maugans.

Loss of the services of the two nurses is regarded by Red Cross officials as one of the most regretable features of suspension of the organization's activities. Although a city the size of Marion should have four public health nurses, it is said, the three on duty here have carried on a work which was soon remarkably efficient, resulting in that branch of the Red Cross service here being ranked, among the foremost in the state of Ohio, officers of the Marion County Chapter say.

The three nurses will complete the schedule of work which they have on hand, including the program of health inspection and promotion in the public schools.

Roll Call Failure Result

Necessity of bringing Red Cross operations to a close on July 1 is a direct result of failure to raise sufficient funds in last fall's roll call to cover expenses for the ensuing year. The goal set in the roll call campaign was $8080 and only $3,915.76 was obtained.

The annual campaign for funds had been losing ground for several years, but up until this year a surplus accumulated from former drives had tided the organization over and enabled it to continue functioning. This surplus has been used up, however, leaving no resources after July 1 to finish the 1927 program of work.

The local Red Cross has been without a chairman since last fall, when Guy H. Hulse resigned after being appointed to a position which took him out of the city. Following his resignation, Mrs. George T. Geran, vice chairman, became acting head of the organization. She called the executive committee meeting last night which resulted in the vote to

SUNDAY DANCE MEASURE SEEMS OUT OF RUNNING

Two Bills of Particular Interest to Marion County Are Passed

Two bills of particular interest to Marion County were passed in the closing session of the state legislature yesterday and a third, the much discussed Hill anti-Sunday dance bill, appeared to be lost in a mass of abandoned proposals.

Although no definite report on the dance bill was sent out of Columbus today, it was indicated that the measure was lost as a result of the senate county affairs committee having failed to send it out for a vote. The legislature will reconvene on May 9 but it is not regarded as likely that the Hill proposal will be revived at that time.

License Bill Passed

The house passed the real estate dealers' license bill shortly before the wind-up of its session last night and the measure is now ready for approval or disapproval of Governor Donahey. This information came in a telegram received this morning by J. W. Jacoby, local attorney and realtor, who has directed the campaign in behalf of the license proposal. Mr. Jacoby is chairman of the legislative committee of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards, which worked untiringly for passage of the license bill and was primarily responsible for its enactment.

Approval Expected

The bill was amended to eliminate features to which Governor Donahey objected. He is expected to sign the measure as a consequence of these changes.

The bill will require all real estate dealers operating in Ohio on a commission basis to obtain licenses. It applies to about 40 dealers in this city.

The other bill passed by the house in its final session provides for changes in rules governing Marion's Municipal Court. It had already passed the senate and now goes to the governor.

Early this week reports from Columbus stated that an effort would be made to call the Hill dance bill out for a vote in the senate and that the movement would probably meet with success. It is believed that these plans went on the rocks due to the numerous other bills upon which action was sought in the sessions yesterday and last night.

BANK SAFE DYNAMITED, $8,000 IN CASH TAKEN

Explosive Charge So Heavy It Partly Wrecks Building in Indiana Town

Noblesville, Ind., April 22—Crackesmen wrecked the safe of the Jolietville State Bank, west of this city, today with dynamite and escaped with $8000.

The charge of the explosive was so heavy it partly wrecked the building. Blood, found in several places about the bank led officers to believe some of the robbers were injured.

LAUNCH CAMPAIGN ON COURTROOM HANGERS-ON

Columbus, April 22—Launching a campaign to eliminate courtroom hangers-on who prey on persons charged with crime, City Prosecutor Hensel ordered the arrest of Talmadge Allen, negro, on a charge of soliciting and receiving $105 from another negro. It is charged Allen promised to get the other man's liquor fine suspended.

CONSTABLE ARRESTED

Columbus, April 22—George Laver, 23, constable in the justice of the peace court of Mifflin Township was held under $500 bond today, pending investigation of a charge that he extorted $15 from a roadside motorist, who, with a woman in his car, was parked without lights along a highway.

More Heavy Frosts Forecast for Tonight by Weather Bureau

HEAVY killing frosts with threats of considerable damage to cherry and peach crops in Marion and adjoining counties are forecast for tonight by the weatherman. Saturday will witness slowly rising temperatures.

Today's cloudy weather prevented serious damage as a result of last night's frost and drop in temperature to the freezing level, 32 degrees, local fruit growers and florists say. Had a warm sun appeared early this morning the damage would undoubtedly have been heavy, they explained.

Little Damage

Reports from farmers throughout the county likewise indicated that little or no damage resulted from the temperature drop.

With a killing frost scheduled for tonight fruit growers in various sections of the county were preparing to kindle smudge fires in their orchards. Housewives, likewise, are expected to shield their budding flowers with cloth.

Many disgruntled house holders stomped cellarwise last night, split kindling and started furnace fires that had been allowed to go out during the preceding warm days. A pickup in the coal business also was noticed today.

Residents were treated to an unusual April weather spectacle this morning when a light flurry of snow blew into the city. The flakes melted as soon as they touched a solid object.

MUSIC STRAINS GIVE TRIAL SENTIMENT TOUCH

"Nearer My God to Thee" Brings Tears to Mrs. Snyder's Eyes

Court House, Long Island City, N. Y., April 22—A dramatic scene was enacted in this spacious courtroom this afternoon when Mrs. Josephine Brown, mother of Ruth Brown Snyder, the woman defendant in the case, entered the court room accompanied and was escorted to a seat not far from the prisoner's dock.

The mother of the defendant, saddened and weary looking, entered the courtroom just as a funeral band, passing in the streets below, began playing the strains of "Nearer My God To Thee."

Attorneys who were monotonously questioning talesmen in the difficult task of trying to get a jury, halted their questioning for a moment or two. Tears filled the eyes of Mrs. Snyder, sitting pensively at counsels' table, attired in widow's black.

Accept Eighth Juror

Shortly after the attorneys resumed questioning the eighth juror was accepted.

He was Louis Ruckdaschel, employment manager of College Point. He was the two hundred and ninetieth talesman questioned. He is a widower, 47 years old, with two children, a boy of seven and a girl 11.

With seven jurors chosen and the process of examination of talesmen speeded up by the judge, there was every indication that the complete jury will be selected before court adjourns tonight.

Saturday Court Threat

If not, Justice Townsend Scudder has informed lawyers in the bitter three-cornered legal battle, court will be held Saturday.

At any rate, the telling from the witness stand of the story of the killing of Albert Snyder, art editor of the magazine, "Motor Boating," will begin Monday morning.

DEFENSE BEING PLANNED FOR JUVENILE FILM STAR

Florence Bain, Ray Raymond's Divorced Wife, May Be Witness

Los Angeles, April 22—As the body of Ray Raymond, musical comedy film star, was being prepared for burial today, Paul Kelly, juvenile film star, clad in denim, occupied a jail cell and Dorothy Mackaye, well known actress and Raymond's wife, was in a critical condition as the result of a nervous breakdown—the culmination of an affair involving a resentful husband, the "other man" and the wife who refused to give up her friendship for the youthful motion picture actor.

Following the inquest yesterday, Coroner Nance, however, characterized the fatal fight as "the most brutal homicide to come to the attention of the coroner's office in years."

Florence Bain, Raymond's former wife, it was learned, will be asked to divulge details of her divorce from the musical comedy actor. Miss Mackaye is said to have been named as corespondent when she was granted her decree. In the event defense attorneys are able to prove that Raymond's marriage to Miss Mackaye was illegal, they will also attempt to show that Raymond had no right to resent Kelly's attentions to the actress.

Kelly will be arraigned on a murder charge Monday, when he is also scheduled to make his plea.

Meanwhile, Raymond's mother, Mrs. A. R. Cedarbloom, of Forest Hills, N. Y., is hurrying here to take charge of her son's body and John Mackay, Dorothy's father is en route here from Denver, to give his daughter what aid he can.

BURKE TO HEAD Y. M. C. A.-SCOUT ANNUAL DRIVE

Finance Campaign To Be Launched in City First Week of May

WORKERS SELECTED

Amount To Be Sought in General Solicitation Not Yet Announced

M. E. Burke is general chairman of the joint Y. M. C. A. and Boy Scout finance campaign to get under way in Marion the first week in May. He has enlisted as his chief aides, or division leaders, John H. Clark, Charles H. Isaly, A. W. Kette, Homer R. Waddell and Ray W. Waddell.

The amount to be sought in this campaign has not yet been announced and probably will not be until the launching of the canvass. The amount last year was $20,250 but the sum this year will be somewhat larger since the amount secured in the last drive was insufficient to carry on the community service needed by the boys, General Secretary Martin Verburg said today.

"A Square Deal for Marion Boys" is the slogan adopted by the leaders in the campaign. The five division leaders have each enlisted captains, who have practically completed the organization of 25 teams which will constitute the working forces. A total of 160 "friends of boys," as they will be known, will engage in the work of procuring the needed funds.

Captains Named

The captains are William Bartholomew, T. M. Cunningham, Russell Snare, A. A. VanAtta, Hector Young, Donald M. Burson, James Llewellyn, M. L. McDaniels, Robert E. White, J. C. Woods, Jules V. Barnd, C. O. Bender, V. C. Kissell, L. C. Dixon, Harry E. Hastings, Ben Jacoby, E. H. Saiter, F. C. Siefert, Doug Torrence, W. C. Brown, R. K. Hill, Roy Rice, and Gordon V. Stair.

The captains and leaders met at dinner at the "Y" Thursday night, to check up on the work of organizing and complete their plans.

Carl Baer, secretary of the financial service bureau of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A., New York, is helping local leaders in their preparation for the campaign. Mr. Baer is also counseling with the "Y" leaders in Mansfield and Warren, where building projects are in form. Mansfield contemplates the erection of a $900,000 "Y" building and Warren approximately the same.

THREE INDICTED FOR PERJURY IN TRIAL

Jury Action Follows Discovery of Body in Canal Waters

Cincinnati, April 22—Nathan H. Kite today was indicted for first degree murder, in connection with the death of Floyd Renner, 19, Reading, perjury indictments were returned against J. B. Redwine, Reading cafe proprietor, and Conley Martin, Newport, Ky., as a result of Renner's death.

Renner's body was found in the bed of the Old Miami and Erie Canal last Sunday.

The arrests of the men and their indictments followed statements made by Dr. Glenn R. Longenecker, Lockland. He is said to have told police he was called to Redwine's place April 2, to attend Renner, but found the youth was dead. His life was threatened, he said, if he disclosed the tragedy.

Kite is said to have struck Renner on the head with a blackjack during a fight. Others held as material witnesses are: Emmet Redwine, son of the cafe man; Walter Ellis, Lockland, and Charles Carroll Reading.

AIR MAIL PILOT DIES WHEN PLANE CRASHES

Malatzo Encounters Snowstorm; Makes Forced Landing; Later Falls

Cleveland, April 22—Advices were received at the local airport early today, telling of the death of John F. Malatzo, 35, Cleveland, air mail pilot on the Chicago-Cleveland route, as the result of his plane crashing to earth near Topeka, Ind., about 12:30 o'clock this morning.

Malatzo, according to the report, left Chicago at 10:45 P. M. Thursday. At midnight he encountered a snowstorm and made a forced landing. Taking off about 20 minutes later, he was apparently trying to reach Bryan, O., when he crashed.

Malatzo was considered one of the best fliers on the Cleveland route. He had been in the air mail service about three years and previous to that time was in the army aviation service.

THREE NAVY PLANES TO ASSIST IN FLOOD WORK

Washington, April 22—Three naval seaplanes were ordered today from the Pensacola Naval Station to Little Rock, Ark., to render aid in rescuing stranded refugees in the flooded areas.

A dispatch to the navy from Lieut. Sample, pilot of a seaplane at Vicksburg, Miss., said conditions in the flooded areas were very hazardous for planes, but the navy ordered three dispatched anyway.

Scores of Lives Believed Lost In Path of Mississippi Flood Waters; Disease Is Threatening Refugees

Film Juvenile Cast In Tragic Role Now

RAY RAYMOND

DOROTHY MACKAYE

PAUL KELLY

Paul Kelly, film juvenile, has been indicted in Los Angeles for first degree murder, following a grand jury investigation of the death of Ray Raymond, musical comedy actor, who died after a beating admittedly administered by the screen player. Dorothy MacKaye, stage actress, Raymond's wife, admitted while a witness before the grand jury, that she had been with Kelly a short time before the beating. According to investigating officials, Kelly said he fought Raymond in Raymond's home at Hollywood and admitted it was over Miss MacKaye, whom he said he loved. Officials say he added he had "merrily punched Raymond several times" and was "very much surprised he died."

NEAR-FREEZING TEMPERATURES ADD SUFFERING

Fifty-Five Thousand Driven from Homes, Many with Only Clothing

RELIEF BEING RUSHED

Eighteen Persons Drowned When Government Launch Sinks in Arkansas

(By International News Service)

Famine and pestilence threatened thousands of refugees today as the Mississippi River continued to break flood records in its surging flight to the gulf.

Near freezing temperatures through the upper valley added to the suffering of the approximately 55,000 who have been driven from their homes, many of them with little more than the clothes on their backs.

Relief has begun to pour into the stricken regions although the vast area affected and the regional shortage of boats has left many thousands virtually without shelter, food, and adequate medical attention.

From one end of the valley to the other authorities were bending all their energies toward bolstering crumbling levees and adequately caring for the refugees.

Many of the northern tributaries of the Mississippi were reported slowly receding today and the veteran rivermen believed the crest of the flood might hit Memphis, Tenn., by Saturday.

Towns and villages along the Mississippi and Louisiana banks of the river were preparing for record-breaking water stages.

Along this area it was feared the river might inundate whole counties left virtually untouched by former floods.

Greenville, Miss., April 22—Scores of lives are believed to have been lost in the path of the flood waters sweeping across the Mississippi delta from a break in the Mississippi levee near Scott Sunday yesterday.

The flood waters were six feet deep in Greenville early today and water still was pouring over the top of the city's protective levee.

Official help was out an appeal for river boats to rescue the entire population which is reported in the city.

Part of the main Mississippi levee here was washed down early today, sweeping a wall of water across the countryside.

Judge B. B. Trumble reported that several deaths occurred on his plantation when the rushing waters from the great crevasse swept over his farm lands. All these workers were negroes.

Flooding of the Mississippi delta by yesterday's break at Scott will make from 150,000 to 175,000 homeless and flood 3,000 square miles between the Mississippi and Sunflower and Yazoo rivers.

No estimate was available as to the

STATE EXAMINERS CLOSE BANK AT BRIDGEPORT

Reported Shortage $200,000; President Blames Carrying of Bad Notes

Bridgeport, April 22—With a reported shortage of $200,000, the Bridgeport Bank Co., today was closed with state bank examiners in charge, while William E. Thomas, cashier was in custody at the county jail at St. Clairsville.

The bank was closed by order of State Superintendent of Banks L. H. Blair, following a meeting of the board of directors held last night.

Thomas, while admitting his responsibility for the shortage, according to President J. C. Heinlein, declares the shortage was caused by carrying bad notes in the bank and not through embezzlement.

SCHOOL SURVEY BEING MADE BY RESEARCH MEN

Report To Be Made Later to Supt. J. H. Mason and Board

Six members of the research department of Ohio State University, Columbus, are completing a survey of Marion public school facilities and needs for new building and equipment, according to Jesse H. Mason, superintendent of schools.

The men are working under the direction of Dr. E. J. Ashbaugh and will finish their work Saturday, later making a report to Superintendent Mason and the Marion Board of Education.

Need for new buildings and equipment has been suggested in the past, the schools here being overcrowded. According to Superintendent Mason, Dr. Ashbaugh will keep in close touch with the Marion situation until a complete report of the survey here is made.

GIRL IS SAFE

Daughter of Former President Obregon of Mexico Not on Train

San Antonio, Tex., April 22—Senora De Leon, daughter of former President Obregon of Mexico, believed to have been a victim of the massacre of more than 100 persons on the Guadalajara-Mexico City train, last Tuesday, is safe.

"She was not on the train," was the terse statement of Consul-General Alejandro P. Carillo here today. The consul did not say where Senora De Leon was, but was emphatic in his declaration she was safe.

PLOT TO ASSASSINATE OFFICIALS REVEALED

Drastic Military Censorship Clamped Over All Mexican Communication

New York, April 22—A wide-spread plot to assassinate high officials of the Mexican government has resulted in a drastic military censorship over all lines of communication in Mexico and a tightening of military precautions against rebel activities, according to private code messages from Mexico City received in New York today.

Messages received here from the Mexican capital stated that following the attack on the Guadalajara train, government officials discovered the alleged plot which had wide ramifications. They immediately decided upon drastic measures.

The dispatches received here do not state whether the plot was aimed at the life of President Calles.

The Mexican government, it is stated, is preparing to send large forces into the field to suppress the rebels and General Obregon has personally offered to return to active service to lead troops against the rebels and bandits.

LAST RITES HELD FOR UNIDENTIFIED NEGRO

Marked Map Indicates Accident Victim Was Bound for New York

Funeral services for the unidentified negro found dead on the Erie railroad tracks three miles west of the downtown crossing early yesterday morning by H. E. Bastian, night switchman at the Erie yards, were held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Schaffner and Queen Funeral Home and burial was in Marion Cemetery.

Two road maps, the one indicating that the man was headed for New York City, two cakes of soap and a broken comb were the only things found on the man. It is thought that he boarded the Erie train at Chicago and had fallen under the train when it was being made up for the run to New York in the Erie yards. Officials state he may have fallen asleep and the jar of the cut of cars being added to the train caused him to fall underneath, the cars passing over his body.

He was badly mangled and sustained a broken neck and arms and a fractured jaw, as well as internal injuries.

PRISONER FLEES TRAIN WITH WRISTS HANDCUFFED

Atlanta, April 22—No trace has been found of Hubert Smith, of Cincinnati, who escaped from a train between Chattanooga, Tenn., and Dalton, Ga., yesterday, while enroute to Atlanta to start a seven-year term for stealing automobiles.

W. H. Jarrett, United States deputy marshal, who had charge of Smith and several other prisoners, said Smith escaped with his wrists handcuffed.

SAPIRO WINS LIBEL SUIT AGAINST REGINA PAPER

Terms of Settlement Unusual; Provide for Education of Homeless Boy

Winnipeg, Man., April 22—Aaron Sapiro, plaintiff in the $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford, today was the winner in a libel action against a Regina, Sask., publication.

When Sapiro was in western Canada working on the formation of a Canadian wheat pool, the Regina newspaper attacked past performances of the so-called co-operative king.

Sapiro sued for $50,000. When the case came up before the court of king's bench it was thrown out on technical terms. Sapiro carried the suit to the court of appeals, which ordered the case sent back to the lower court for trial on its merits.

Then a settlement was arranged out of court, the general terms of which were:

The publication must withdraw all charges, must pay all costs, and must make the agreement a part of the court records of the case. The newspaper further agreed to select a homeless boy within 90 days "who would not otherwise stand a chance for education," and pay all his expenses in the public schools and on through until he graduates in the Saskatchewan Provincial University.

LEGISLATIVE DIGNITY IS THROWN TO WINDS

Ohio Senators and Representatives Hurl Waste Paper Baskets as Session Ends

Columbus, April 22—The traditional dignity of the law makers went to the boards in the closing minutes of the prolonged session of the Ohio Legislature early today, and the solons romped about the sedate senate and house chambers in an orgy of boy scout revelry.

Waste paper baskets flew back and forth, members draped themselves in the window draperies and paraded about the chambers, and catcalls and laughter resounded through the solemn corridors of the capitol building. Books were hurled at indolent speakers, and sergeants-at-arms were powerless to halt the fun, soon giving up their attempts as hopeless.

CATHOLIC EPISCOPATE DENIES TRAIN ATTACK

Assailants, If Guilty of Reported Cruelties, Merit Reprobation of World

Mexico City, April 22—The Mexican government has established a censorship upon cables. No explanation has been offered yet.

Rebel activities in northern Mexico have been increasing recently and there have been rumors of the possibility of an attempted revolution from Mexicans across the United States borders.

Mexico City, April 22—The Catholic Episcopate has issued a strong statement denying any responsibility for the rebel attack upon the Guadalajara train on Tuesday, when more than 100 civilians and 48 soldiers were shot and killed or burned to death in the railroad cars which were fired.

The Episcopate declares that all Catholics who have taken up arms against the government have done so independently.

"If it is true that the assailants of the train committed the cruelties, which the bulletin issued by General Alvarez charges, they merit the reprobation of the whole world," declared the Episcopate's denial issued by Archbishop Ruiz Y Flores, "but in any case it isn't the Church which is responsible, but those who have provoked this situation, who have given and are giving examples of similar occurrences."

Erstwhile Bryan Secretary is Democratic Harmonizer

One of Speakers at Jefferson Day Banquet; Tries To Imitate Old Boss

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, April 22 — Representative Edgar Howard of Nebraska one of the harmony speakers chosen to squirt oratorical oil on the troubled political waters at the Democrats, Jefferson Day banquet, once upon a time was William Jennings Bryan's private secretary.

EDGAR HOWARD

They say on Capitol Hill that he tries to imitate his old boss.

It's a fact that he does wear his hair in a bob, in the Commoner's earlier manner. He goes in for frock coats and statesmanlike black string ties, which "W. J." likewise affected. His face, too, isn't unlike Bryan's, but nature gave him that, so if it's an imitation it's none of his own handiwork.

AT all events, there's no chance that anybody ever will take Howard for Bryan come to life again, unless the former somehow manages to add about a cubit to his stature.

If he's anything at all to Bryan, he's a pocket edition of him.

I mean he's a physical pocket edition. Mentally he's as bright a Nebraskan as the next one.

That's one reason why I don't believe he's an imitator. He's plenty good enough as a genuine Edgar Howard—hasn't any call to figure as a synthetic W. J. Bryan.

If he happens to look a little like "W. J." I'm convinced it's a mere coincidence.

He has one thing Bryan never did have, and that's a sense of humor.

YET I never would have picked Howard for a harmonizer.

He starts harmoniously, yes, but he doesn't always end up that way.

One day I happened to overhear him talking with a fellow congressman who was urging on him the desirability of putting the fear of God into a recalcitrant group of politicians.

The idea seemed very repugnant to the Nebraska representative.

"I never could lend myself," he said, "to anything in the nature of intimidation.

"At the same time," he added thoughtfully, after a pause, "I can see no objection to scaring 'em to death."

HOWARD is good, however, at "sob stuff."

He's a country editor. I can imagine him sitting down to write the obituary of a defunct subscriber and getting a very pretty story out of a career that it would stump the average biographer to find anything particularly favorable in.

Now at that Democratic banquet—

But heaven forbid that anybody should see a comparison in this.

All I mean to say is:

I can quite readily imagine Representative Howard, in that mushy style of his, getting all the discordant Democratic elements—if there are any—to crying down one another's necks, and forgiving and forgetting and all that kinda thing, so far as the Jefferson Day banquet's concerned. But when everything appears to be perfectly lovely, I'm wondering if he can resist the temptation to do something that'll scare 'em to death.

HOWARD'S from a state that has to be reckoned with. It's a doubtful state, a Corn Belt state, a dry state, a turbulent state, traditionally a William J. Bryan state.

Howard has a dickens of a pull with the Democrats there. His influence isn't to be sneezed at for a minute. No wonder they wanted him at their Jefferson Day blowout. The only risky thing about him is that indifference of his to scaring folks.

He calls himself a "free Democrat," with the accent strongly on the first syllable.

BISHOP INVITES MEXICAN NUNS TO CLEVELAND

Cleveland, April 22—Nine Catholic nuns, who were expelled from Mexico one year ago, are to establish a mother house in Cleveland, upon invitation of Bishop Joseph Schrembs, it was learned here today.

THE FRANK BROS. CO.

Preliminary Arrangements Made by Kiwanis Club for Children's Fresh Air Camp

Plans Announced at Noon Luncheon of Organization; T. E. Andrews, Former Mayor of Marion, Delivers Talk on Orphans' Home

Preliminary arrangements for the annual fresh air camp for undernourished children, to be established again this year on the Evans farm, south of the city were announced yesterday at the weekly noon luncheon of the Kiwanis Club.

Discussion of the camp plans and an address by T. E. Andrews former Marion mayor who is now superintendent of the Soldiers and Sailors Orphans' Home near Xenia were the principal features of today's proram. Mr. Andrews, who has been superintendent of the state home for several years, gave an interesting talk which included a historical review of the institution and an outline of the work being done there.

To Spend $2,000

The Kiwanis club plans to expend about $2,000 in the children's health camp this year. It will open July 1 and continue through July and August. Last year 35 boys and girls attended the camp and remarkable results were achieved in improvement of their health.

Need of improvements and increased housing facilities at the Xenia orphans home is especially urgent at this time, Superintendent Andrews informed the club members. There are now 610 children at the institution and a large increase in enrollment is certain within the next few years, he stated.

This forecast is based upon experience of the home management following the Civil War. Applications from children of Civil War veterans grew steadily in number finally reaching the peak figure in 1889, when there were 909 boys and girls being cared for at the institution with applications from 1,100 on file and no facilities for admitting them.

Says Addition Needed

Superintendent Andrews expressed the opinion that the same situation will develop as a result of the World War. He anticipates that unless the home is enlarged, facilities will not be available for taking care of all applications.

The Xenia home has been neglected more than any other state institution in recent years, Mr. Andrews said. An effort is being made to remedy the results of this neglect, proposals now being before the legislature to appropriate funds to be used in repairs, improvements and building construction. The program is to construct two new cottages annually during the next 10 years and the superintendent says that all of this additional housing space is certain to be taken up with possibility of more being needed.

"Not Charity Home"

"This is not a charity institution," Superintendent Andrews stated. "It is a home which the state has provided for children of the men who have served their country in war time. It is something that the state actually owes these men for their service."

The object of the management, Mr. Andrews said, is to make it a real home and not conduct it as an institution. He outlined the educational system, showing how the children are thoroughly trained for their life work.

In introducing Mr. Andrews, G. Farr Lacie, chairman of the Kiwanis entertainment committee, said that the club plans a series of talks at future meetings by public officials.

DE VALERA TALKS

Not Impossible for England To Be at War with United States, He Says

Cleveland, April 22—"Don't think it impossible for England to be at war with the United States," said Eamonn De Valera, Irish Republican leader, in a speech here.

"England has always concentrated against her chief rivals. If she does't pursue her traditional policy, it's probably only because she learned a lesson on former occasion."

De Valera spoke under the auspices of the American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic. He left Cleveland for Pittsburgh this morning.

REPORTED IMPROVING

Miss Etta Carter, 300 Girard-av, teacher of the fifth grade at the Pearl Street Shool Building, who has been seriously ill of complications resulting from an operation for appendicitis in March, is reported improving slowly. She will not be able to resume her duties as instructor for some time.

How Can You Expect To Be Well if Your Kidneys are not up to Par?

—Kain Studio

Mrs. S. A. Ford

Ashtabula, Ohio — "I was having quite a lot of trouble with my kidneys. They were congested and sore, my back gave me a lot of distress just across my kidneys, specks would appear before my eyes as though something was passing before me and my feet and ankles were swollen. But, after taking Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets my kidneys got all right, the backache and swelling in my feet and ankles disappeared, my eyes cleared up and I have had no trouble with my kidneys since." Mrs. S. A. Ford, 62 South St.

Don't wait for serious kidney ailment to set in. Get Dr. Pierce's Anuric at the drug store. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., if you want a trial pkg. and write for free advice.—Adv.

Think of the regret that must have come to the thousands of lame ducks in the country that they never thought of making King George an issue in their campaign!

One peculiarity of the war over in China seems to be that the casualties are chiefly among non-combatants. But everything over there is more or less queer.

Many a hero passes unhonored and unsung, and in this connection think of the editor who reads the thousands of contributed poems his solicitude for his readers will not permit him to print.

The difficulty which will confront us true aristocrats of the land when the use of the 203-mile car becomes general will be that we will have to jump before it comes into sight.

"The prospect of more votes for women does not elate me," says Christabel Pankhurst, "now that I know we can make the same mistakes as men." In a word, Christabel, you have discovered that experience isn't as much as a thirty-second cousin to theory.

"The Russian government apparently would have less trouble," says the Washington Star, "if its politicians were as good as its poets, musicians and dancers." But this could be said of almost any government.

So long as bandits, gangsters and other criminals are glorified by the press of the land instead of being portrayed as the mean, cowardly thugs the most of them are, there can be little hope of a successful issue to any war on crime.

The delegates to the Beauty Trades show being held up in Chicago were told that the women of the United States expend an average of $5,000,000 a day in their pursuit of beauty. Can it be that natural feminine pulchritude is "on the blink?"

Suspecting a Detroit student of trying to break up their smoking rendezvous, eight fellow-students tore off his clothing, scrubbed him with a wire brush and then poured iodine into his wounds. "Onward the course of civilization makes its way."

If the exceptional makes the news, here's the big news story of the day. A Pittsburgh woman is being held for killing her husband with a rolling-pin. And here we have been assuming that it had become extinct.

Right upon the heels of his campaign to drive King George from the British throne, or something like that, Mayor Thompson goes and gets a pure-blood English bulldog. We very gravely fear the Hon. Bill isn't wholly consistent in his hatred of all things British.

The Damaging of Highways.

The opinion expressed by Attorney General E. C. Turner, in which he held that it was illegal to operate over the public highways of Ohio a traction engine or tractor with angle irons or non-removable cleats on its wheels or tires, appeals to us as being in absolute accord with good sound sense, no matter what the law upon the matter may be.

The opinion was addressed to Prosecutor C. H. Conaway, of our neighboring county of Morrow, who had set out in a statement to the attorney general that the highways of Morrow county were being damaged because of the operation over them of tractors and traction engines, to the wheels or tires of which were attached "non-movable L cleats about two inches in length, the surface of which coming into contact with an improved highway did not exceed a quarter of an inch and thus acted in much the same way on it as would a pick or a lug."

The attorney general ruled that, when damage to a highway was worked in the way stated, resort could be had to a civil action for damages.

The tax burden being borne by the people of Ohio is a heavy one, and improved highways are responsible for a large portion of it. Our improved roads have cost taxpayers scores of millions of dollars and the added cost of additional highways and the maintenance of them will be staggering. So heavy have been assessments for improved highways in many cases as to be practically confiscatory. Thus it is that the public is enjoying the wonderfully fine roads which have been constructed in the state in the last decade at the cost of great sacrifice upon the part of some of the landowners of the state and to the burdening of all of them.

That highways constructed at staggering cost—and the cost of most hard-surface highways is staggering today—should be ruined by the operation of traction engines or tractors with impunity is almost unthinkable, or would be did we not know that damage has been done to many such highways in this way.

Happily for the preservation of our highways, such violations of the law as well as all tenets of conservation are more liable to be reported than are speed violations and other offenses by motorists. The average motorist is reluctant about reporting the violation of laws and ordinances by fellow-motorists, especially when such violations have not resulted in any direct harm. But no such reluctance will be felt by the farmer when the road along his farm has been damaged by a traction engine or a tractor. He, or some member of his family, is generally at home, day or night, and neither a traction engine nor a tractor is so nearly noiseless that it can pass his place without attracting attention, nor is so speedy that it can get away without the farmer discovering the identity of the one operating it.

When the general public knows that damage can not be done to improved highways in the manner set out by the Morrow county prosecutor, or in any other way in contravention of the laws of the state, without somebody subjecting themselves to the possibility of a civil action to collect such damages as may be done, the violations of the law in this manner will be few and far between, for all operators of such machines will realize that action against them is more than a possibility, more than a probability; that action is almost a certainty.

The bandits of the country seem to be able to get along very well without resorting to daylight-saving.

It is now safe to say that former Premier Ramsey Mac Donald, of Great Britain, has arrived in this country. The movies show him being welcomed by Mayor Jimmy Walker, of New York.

Charlie Chaplin has agreed to pay, and the government has agreed to accept, $1,000,000 in full of income taxes not paid by him for the past five years. Everybody to their own taste. We prefer to pay ours annually and not let them accumulate like that.

LEAVE IT TO THE RADIO BOARD!

Protection Against Diphtheria.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

A city in New York state, Auburn, has not had a death from diphtheria in three years. This is a remarkable record, a world's record indeed. I doubt if any other community of its size can equal this claim.

Diphtheria and "diphtheritic croup" used to be one of the chief causes of death in young children. Children under five, particularly, were victims of this dread disease.

In 1922, the New York state health authorities and the local health officials set out to inoculate every child in Auburn. Over 6,000 were immunized against diphtheria. The reward is found in the clean record of the past year.

In the paper carrying the dispatch from Auburn was an announcement that the New York City health authorities are undertaking a similar campaign in that city. In cooperation with the medical societies and health agencies, it is planned to have every household assist in this plan to wipe out diphtheria.

A serum, called "the toxin-anti-toxin serum," is considered by the experts an almost certain preventative against the disease. In all my experience, I can recall no other remedial measure which has been accepted so universally by the scientific world.

Most of the subjects I write about are not controversial. Rarely do I get any number of protests against the tenchings carried in this column. But today's message will bring me a lot of letters from conscientious objectors to the use of vaccines and serums. Whenever vaccination against smallpox or inoculation against diphtheria is mentioned, I am sure to get such letters.

But, dear friends, I want your children to have an equal chance with all other children. They can not have it unless you overcome your prejudice and submit to the conclusions of science. There are few things in medical science better established than the protective value of the toxin-anti-toxin serum.

Here is a statement issued by a committee of famous "pedintricians," experts in child care and children's diseases. It is a remarkable tribute to the simplicity, painlessness and harmlessness of this procedure. I quote:

"In many cases there are no reactions, either local or general. In susceptibles (persons who are liable to take diphtheria) a local reaction characterized by redness and by a certain degree of tenderness and a little swelling may appear at the site of inoculation. This reaches its height in two or three days and gradually subsides. General reaction rarely occurs in small children. Permanent harmful effects are never observed after the use of toxin-anti-toxin."

Editorial Comment.

DIGGING UP HERCULANEUM.

The Austrian governor, Prince d'Elboeu, digging a well in his villa at Portici in 1719, discovered the ruins of Herculaneum. But for a hundred years no scientific work was attempted. Occasionally some small dig was made and a number of pieces were found and taken into the Naples museum. Part of the theater was discovered; so was the fine house in brone which has been so often compared to the bronze horses of St. Mark's in Venice. In 1750 some 3,000 rolls of blackened and decayed papyri were found, and it was good luck that they were not thrown aside as charcoal. Some were finally unrolled and deciphered. The works were nearly all on Epicurean philosophy, many being by Philodemus, a writer mentioned by Cicero.

It was in 1828 when the discovery was made of the house, on the walls of which were frescoes better preserved and with more brilliant colors than those found on the walls of the houses at Pompeii. The painting known as "Argus and Io" is perhaps the most famous. It is the one which gave to the house the designation "House of Argus," which we still see in the books. The famous statues of the two wrestlers so well known to art were discovered in the garden of the Villa of the Papyri.

A few years ago Professor Spinazzola, who was then director of the National museum at Naples, gave it as his opinion that the discoveries at Pompeii were absolutely nothing in comparison with what might reasonably be expected if Herculaneum were ever uncovered. He said among other prophecies: "I should expect to find there all the beautiful furniture with which the Roman patricians filled their homes." His statement was based on the fact that only a small part of the lower town had ever been touched and merely from there had come dozens of splendid bronze figures and scores of fine pieces of marble statuary, as well as upon the fact that it is well known that Pompeii was a seaside commercial town and that Herculaneum was the suburban residence of Neapolitan and Italian nobility.

Herculaneum may well be the greatest "gold mine" thus far found beneath Italian soil. The objects of classical antiquity which are embedded in Italian soil have panned out thus far to be better than any vein of ore ever struck elsewhere, because those objects of ancient art not only command fabulous prices from museums or wealthy collectors, but they are our historic heritage from those bygone days when for some centuries there seems to have been in Greek and Roman possession a monopoly on the creation of marvelous and beautiful works of glyptic and ceramic art, of architecture, painting and sculpture.—New York Herald-Tribune.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

These are pleasant words and they come from a real authority. "Prosperity will continue because we have the largest wage fund in the history of the world, unlimited credit under the federal reserve system, and a general improvement in agricultural conditions." So is the statement of Barron, publisher of the Wall Street Journal. Now, if men and women, both in and out of business, will keep fear out of their minds, good times will go on.

Much talk about this becoming a woman's world. England may soon find out what a woman's world would be like. The government has decided to give the vote to all women over twenty-one. The present age limit is thirty and there are many restrictions. Under the new law, women will be able to outvote men by 2,000,000. Will the day come when the house of commons and the cabinet are made up of women? And what then?

Lady Astor, speaking of the new enfranchisement of women in England, says: "The whole moral tone of the British government has been raised."

What can American observers say about woman suffrage, as far as it has gone in this country? We can at least say: "It has done no harm. It is at least justified, if not beneficial."

Sixteen principles for relief in traffic conditions were laid down by experts at a Chicago convention the other day. One slogan, lived up to, would go a long way toward making city streets safe. That slogan is "Think."

Scientific research still goes on to provide proof of man's immortality, of life after death. J. Malcolm Bird, member of the "Scientific American's" investigating committee, says, "I am absolutely convinced of the reality of psychic phenomena. The living have talked with the dead."

Cardinal Newman once said something more important than that. He said he was not concerned as to when his life would end, but he was much concerned as to whether it would really begin.

Have we really begun to live? We might well put some thought on that.

Talks by Those in Public Eye.

JOHN E. EDGERTON.

John E. Edgerton is president of the National Association of Manufacturers and also of the Tennessee Association of Manufacturers. He held numerous offices in his state during the World war, chief among which were chairman of the war resources committee, member of the federal fuel and food administrations for the state, and state chairman of the United war work campaign. Edgerton was a co-founder of the Columbia, Tennessee, Military academy, and served as its principal for seven years. He is a woolen manufacturer and was born in Johnston county, North Carolina, October 2, 1879.

In a recent interview Mr. Edgerton said that our industry won the envy of the world. He said:

"As a matter of fact, American industry today is about the only thing in America that is looked upon with envy by the rest of the world. It has attained a higher degree of success than any of our professions or non-industrial pursuits or any of our other institutions.

"Yet it is the object of more attack and more efforts are being made within and without to reform it than are made in any other direction.

"If the same degree of progress in the reformation of our political, religious, moral and educational lives had been made as has been made in our industrial life, America would have very much less to worry about.

"It should be clearly understood that anything resembling the sovietization of American industry is repugnant to the American theory of democracy. Labor has the same opportunity to acquire representation in the control of a corporation as any other element in society has, and it should not expect a greater opportunity. It can acquire that representation in the control by acquiring through the purchase of stock partial ownership of the enterprise.

"The supremacy of American industry owes itself more to the insistence of the American employer upon the freedom of the individual than to any other one thing. The closed shop is a monstrosity which will never be tolerated in America until this nation relinquishes altogether its attachment to those peculiar ideals which have made it the leader of the world."

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

Some women are kinda queer about the way they make their old man do all the beating up on the kids. They're afraid the kids won't like them if they make them behave, so they leave all the disagreeable work to the dad. I guess they think it don't matter much what the kids think of their dad.

Well, there was a woman like this and her darling boy was playing out in the street. She

PLANS NEARLY COMPLETE FOR GYM EXHIBITION

Harding High Girls To Appear at Star Auditorium May 3 and 4

One of the long-anticipated events of the school year is the demonstration of physical education presented by the pupils of the girls' gym classes of Harding High School each spring, under the direction of Miss Rachel McAfee, physical instructor in the local high and junior high schools. The program this year will be a gymnasium exhibition to be presented May 3 and 4 at the Star Auditorium.

Students of the ninth grade girls' gym classes of Central and Vernon Heights Junior High Schools, also under Miss McAfee's supervision, will be included in this year's program. A total of 575 young women to take part.

To Wear Uniform Suits

For the first time since the institution of the exhibition as an annual event, the girls will be supplied with uniform suits of black sateen.

The program will include a grand march, formal gymnastics, drills and a feature number by the girls of the junior class who have studied symbolic dancing.

Tickets will be placed on sale Monday and may be purchased from any student of the gymnasium classes. All seats will be reserved through the High School April 28 and 29.

JINX STILL PURSUING MARION INSURANCE MAN

Henry "Bud" Lawson Reports Theft of Fourth Bicycle in Two Years

The jinx continues to pursue Henry "Bud" Lawson, well-known local baseball player and insurance agent, and his bicycle.

In fact Bud, according to the latest report, appears to be about one lap behind the jinx in a race which started some two years ago, the story of which rivals the account of the Prince of Wales and his difficulties as a horseback rider.

In these two years, Lawson, who resides at 499 Elmwood-dr and has an insurance office in the Citizens building on W. Center-st, has had four bicycles stolen. The last theft occurred yesterday when he parked his two-wheeled vehicle near his office and found it missing about 10 minutes later.

Bicycle No. 3 was stolen from the same place about two months ago. No. 1, taken from near his home at the beginning of the two-year jinx period, was recovered and then stolen a second time.

Warns Middle-Aged Women To Watch These Danger Signs

Thousands of women at the changing time of life are in serious danger—because of poisonous waste matter accumulating in the system, polluting the blood stream and overworking the heart and kidneys, often resulting in chronic hepatic torpidity, gall bladder inflammation or even gall stones.

The symptoms—danger signs—that should be closely watched are dizziness, headaches, shortness of breath, gas in stomach and bowels, pressure or sharp pains in right side that often shoot through to the back, coated tongue, bad breath, lack of ambition, weakness, nervousness, and nights of restless misery.

Failure to heed "these warning signs" in time may mean months or even years of miserable ill health and perhaps a dangerous surgical operation!

Everyone near or past middle life should guard against hepatic torpidity or any form of gall bladder trouble. And in the opinion of the writer one of the best things in the world for conditions of this kind is the inexpensive home use of Klax-Ko tablets, which Bradley Drug Store or any other good druggist supply on a binding guarantee to refund their cost, if genuinely beneficial results are not obtained inside of a week! "Klax-Ko" tablets have brought new life and health to hundreds and they most positively do the same for you or their use will not cost you a penny. Try them today.—Adv.

Both New York and Chicago will resume daylight saving, the first of the coming week. Small town stuff!

Think of the regret that must have come to the thousands of lame ducks in the country that they never thought of making King George an issue in their campaign!

One peculiarity of the war over in China seems to be that the casualties are chiefly among non-combatants. But everything over there is more or less queer.

Many a hero passes unhonored and unsung, and in this connection think of the editor who reads the thousands of contributed poems his solicitude for his readers will not permit him to print.

The difficulty which will confront us true aristocrats of the land when the use of the 203-mile car becomes general will be that we will have to jump before it comes into sight.

"The prospect of more votes for women does not date me," says Christabel Paukhurst, "now that I know we can make the same mistakes as men." In a word, Christabel, you have discovered that experience isn't as much as a thirty-second cousin to theory.

"The Russian government apparently would have less trouble," says the Washington Star, "if its politicians were as good as its poets, musicians and dancers." But this could be said of almost any government.

So long as bandits, gangsters and other criminals are glorified by the press of the land instead of being portrayed as the mean, cowardly thugs the most of them are, there can be little hope of a successful issue to any war on crime.

The delegates to the Beauty Trades show being held up in Chicago were told that the women of the United States expend an average of $5,000,000 a day in their pursuit of beauty. Can it be that natural feminine pulchritude is "on the blink?"

Suspecting a Detroit student of trying to break up their smoking rendezvous, eight fellow-students tore off his clothing, scrubbed him with a wire brush and then poured iodine into his wounds. "Onward the course of civilization makes its way."

If the exceptional makes the news, here's the big news story of the day. A Pittsburgh woman is being held for killing her husband with a rolling-pin. And here we have been assuming that it had become extinct.

Right upon the heels of his campaign to drive King George from the British throne, or something like that, Mayor Thompson goes and gets a pure-blood English bulldog. We very gravely fear the Hon. Bill isn't wholly consistent in his hatred of all things British.

Buildings for Physical Education.

The failure in committee of an appropriation of $500,000 for the construction of a building for physical education at Ohio State university and an appropriation of $300,000 for a similar building at Miami university may cause some grief to material men, contractors and the building trades, but it is hardly probable that the resentment of the people of Ohio generally will be monumental as a result of the committee's refusal to approve the appropriations. It is just possible that the general public might appreciate a few more failures of the same kind.

As we understand it, by a "building for physical education" is meant a building for physical training—a gymnasium. Of course, a "building for physical education" and a gymnasium would cost the taxpayers the same, but the former, it may have been thought, would present more of an appeal to the folks back home. But regardless of whether we are right or wrong about this, we can not feel that the present is the psychological time for making appropriations for more buildings at colleges depending upon the state for support. The people of Ohio have been very generous in their contributions to the cause of education. Ohio State university has been very fortunate in this respect. We can not recall a time in the past two years when there has not been from one to four new buildings in course of construction or material additions being made to old ones. We believe the college plant as it stands today is ample evidence of the desire of the people of the state of Ohio to provide adequate educational facilities for her boys and girls.

But when the state is facing a deficit estimated at $13,000,000 and the general assembly is striving in every way which offers the slightest hope of success to enact legislation by means of which to wipe out this deficit and enable the various institutions of our political division to carry on, we believe that at such a time the erecting of two college "buildings for physical education" may well be deferred, especially when the estimated cost of the two buildings is at least $800,000 and will, when fitted up and equipped, probably exceed $1,000,000.

The Damaging of Highways.

The opinion expressed by Attorney General E. C. Turner, in which he held that it was illegal to operate over the public highways of Ohio a traction engine or tractor with angle irons or non-removable cleats on its wheels or tires, appeals to us as being in absolute accord with good sound sense, no matter what the law upon the matter may be.

The opinion was addressed to Prosecutor C. H. Conaway, of our neighboring county of Morrow, who had set out in a statement to the attorney general that the highways of Morrow county were being damaged because of the operation over them of tractors and traction engines, to the wheels or tires of which were attached "non-movable L cleats about two inches in length, the surface of which coming into contact with an improved highway did not exceed a quarter of an inch and thus acted in much the same way on it as would a pick or a lug."

The attorney general ruled that, when damage to a highway was worked in the way stated, resort could be had to a civil action for damages.

The tax burden being borne by the people of Ohio is a heavy one, and improved highways are responsible for a large portion of it. Our improved roads have cost taxpayers scores of millions of dollars and the added cost of additional highways and the maintenance of them will be staggering. So heavy have been assessments for improved highways in many cases as to be practically confiscatory. Thus it is that the public is enjoying the wonderfully fine roads which have been constructed in the state in the last decade at the cost of great sacrifice upon the part of some of the landowners of the state and to the burdening of all of them.

That highways constructed at staggering cost—and the cost of most hard-surface highways is staggering today—should be ruined by the operation of traction engines or tractors with impunity is almost unthinkable, or would be did we not know that damage has been done to many such highways in this way.

Happily for the preservation of our highways, such violations of the law as well as all tenets of conservation are more liable to be reported than are speed violations and other offenses by motorists. The average motorist is reluctant about reporting the violation of laws and ordinances by fellow-motorists, especially when such violations have not resulted in any direct harm. But no such reluctance will be felt by the farmer when the road along his farm has been damaged by a traction engine or a tractor. He, or some member of his family, is generally at home, day or night, and neither a traction engine nor a tractor is so nearly noiseless that it can pass his place without attracting attention, nor is so speedy that it can get away without the farmer discovering the identity of the one operating it.

When the general public knows that damage can not be done to improved highways in the manner set out by the Morrow county prosecutor, or in any other way in contravention of the laws of the state, without somebody subjecting themselves to the possibility of a civil action to collect such damages as may be done, the violations of the law in this manner will be few and far between, for all operators of such machines will realize that action against them is more than a possibility, more than a probability; that action is almost a certainty.

The bandits of the country seem to be able to get along very well without resorting to daylight saving.

It is now safe to say that former Premier Ramsey Mac Donald, of Great Britain, has arrived in this country. The movies show him being welcomed by Mayor Jimmy Walker, of New York.

Charlie Chaplin has agreed to pay, and the government has agreed to accept, $1,000,000 in full of income taxes not paid by him for the past five years. Everybody to their own taste. We prefer to pay ours annually and not let them accumulate like that.

Protection Against Diphtheria.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

A city in New York state, Auburn, has not had a death from diphtheria in three years. This is a remarkable record, a world's record indeed. I doubt if any other community of its size can equal this claim.

Diphtheria and "diphtheritic croup" used to be one of the chief causes of death in young children. Children under five, particularly, were victims of this dread disease.

In 1922, the New York state health authorities and the local health officials set out to inoculate every child in Auburn. Over 6,000 were immunized against diphtheria. The reward is found in the clean record of the past year.

In the paper carrying the dispatch from Auburn was an announcement that the New York City health authorities are undertaking a similar campaign in that city. In cooperation with the medical societies and health agencies, it is planned to have every household assist in this plan to wipe out diphtheria.

A serum, called "the toxin-anti-toxin serum," is considered by the experts an almost certain preventative against the disease. In all my experience, I can recall no other remedial measure which has been accepted so universally by the scientific world.

Most of the subjects I write about are not controversial. Rarely do I get any number of protests against the teachings carried in this column. But today's message will bring me a lot of letters from conscientious objectors to the use of vaccines and serums. Whenever vaccination against smallpox or inoculation against diphtheria is mentioned, I am sure to get such letters.

But, dear friends, I want your children to have an equal chance with all other children. They can not have it unless you overcome your prejudice and submit to the conclusions of science. There are few things in medical science better established than the protective value of the toxin-anti-toxin serum.

Here is a statement issued by a committee of famous "pediatricians," experts in child care and children's diseases. It is a remarkable tribute to the simplicity, painlessness and harmlessness of this procedure. I quote:

"In many cases there are no reactions, either local or general. In susceptibles (persons who are liable to take diphtheria) a local reaction characterized by redness and by a certain degree of tenderness and a little swelling may appear at the site of inoculation. This reaches its height in two or three days and gradually subsides. General reaction rarely occurs in small children. Permanent harmful effects are never observed after the use of toxin-anti-toxin."

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

M.W.S. Q.—What do you advise for removing superfluous hair?

A.—Superfluous hair may be removed by the use of the electric needle. The work must be done by an expert skilled in this particular line. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

* * *

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this office.

Montreal's Typhoid Epidemic.

Recent figures printed in the Montreal Gazette give a total of 2,231 cases of typhoid reported in Montreal between March 4, when the epidemic became apparent, and April 12. The number of deaths during the period was not given, nor has it been given in any account which we have so far seen. The number of cases reported each day has apparently passed its peak and is slowly declining. It is evident that the infection was very widely spread before the health authorities detected its presence. For several weeks past, the United States authorities have not permitted the entrance of Canadian milk originating within 200 miles of Montreal, and that precaution still continues.

Unless the unfortunate situation can be cleared up soon, it will undoubtedly have a discouraging effect on American touring in that part of Canada. Most people have learned, during recent years, that anything more than a case of typhoid now and then is to be taken as reliable evidence that health authorities have been seriously at fault; and Montreal, desirous of retaining its lucrative tourist trade, will be wise to give its health department a very thorough overhauling. A laxity which permits an experience such as Montreal has suffered for the past six weeks is about the worst advertising possible for a city which wishes to attract the outsider.—Columbus Dispatch.

For the word of the Lord is right; and all His works are done in truth. He loveth righteousness and judgment; the earth is full of the goodness of the Lord. Psalm 33:4-5.

Prayer: I will praise Thee, O Lord, with my whole heart, and I will show forth all Thy marvelous works.

Editorial Comment.

DIGGING UP HERCULANEUM.

The Austrian governor, Prince d'Elboeu, digging a well in his villa at Portici in 1710, discovered the ruins of Herculaneum. But for a hundred years no scientific work was attempted. Occasionally some small dig was made and a number of pieces were found and taken into the Naples museum. Part of the theater was discovered; so was the fine horse in bronze which has been so often compared to the bronze horses of St. Mark's in Venice. In 1750 some 3,000 rolls of blackened and decayed papyri were found, and it was good luck that they were not thrown aside as charcoal. Some were finally unrolled and deciphered. The works were nearly all on Epicurean philosophy, many being by Philodemus, a writer mentioned by Cicero.

It was in 1828 when the discovery was made of the house, on the walls of which were frescoes better preserved and with more brilliant colors than those found on the walls of the houses at Pompeii. The painting known as "Argus and Io" is perhaps the most famous. It is the one which gave to the house the designation "House of Argus," which we still see in the books. The famous statues of the two wrestlers so well known to art were discovered in the garden of the Villa of the Papyri.

A few years ago Professor Spinazzola, who was then director of the National museum at Naples, gave it as his opinion that the discoveries at Pompeii were absolutely nothing in comparison with what might reasonably be expected if Herculaneum were ever uncovered. He said among other prophecies: "I should expect to find there all the beautiful furniture with which the Roman patricians filled their homes." His statement was based on the fact that only a small part of the lower town had ever been touched and merely from there had come dozens of splendid bronze figures and scores of fine pieces of marble statuary, as well as upon the fact that it is well known that Pompeii was a seaside commercial town and that Herculaneum was the suburban residence of Neapolitan and Italian nobility.

Herculaneum may well be the greatest "gold mine" thus far found beneath Italian soil. The objects of classical antiquity which are embedded in Italian soil have panned out thus far to be better than any vein of ore ever struck elsewhere, because those objects of ancient art not only command fabulous prices from museums or wealthy collectors, but they are our historic heritage from those bygone days when for some centuries there seems to have been in Greek and Roman possession a monopoly on the creation of marvelous and beautiful works of glyptic and ceramic art, of architecture, painting and sculpture.—New York Herald-Tribune.

THE UNIVERSITY POISONING.

The state sundry claims board has voted damage awards of $7,500 each to the families of Charles H. Huls, of Logan, and Louis Puskin, of Canton, Ohio, State university students who died from the results of poison given out as medicine at the university dispensary about two years ago, and smaller awards to two other students who were poisoned in the same way at the same time and suffered impairment of health. Before the money is paid the claims board's action must be approved by the legislature and the governor.

It is just that the state should make some reparation for the strange and as yet unexplained tragedies which cost two fine young men their lives and inflicted severe injuries on others. The ill-fated students were attending a state institution and obtained the stuff which killed or injured them in what, on their side, were legitimate transactions at an establishment conducted by the state. Whether the disastrous results came about through some one's design or some one's mistake, the state's moral responsibility is plain enough.

A money award is a pitiful recompense for the loss of a son's life. It is of course no recompense at all but it is an acknowledgment of responsibility and an expression of good will and, since it is the best that can be done in the way of compensation, is plainly called for. We wonder if that dreadful mystery will ever be solved. Is somebody going about with the lives of those two promising young men on his mind and conscience? If so, God pity him.—Ohio State Journal.

Vagrant Verse.

THE BETRAYAL.

When you were weary, roaming the wide world over,
I gave my fickle heart to a new lover,
Now they tell me that you are lying dead:
O mountains fall on me and hide my head!

When you lay burning in the throes of fever,
He vowed me love by the willow-margined river:
Death smote you there—here was your trust betrayed,
O darkness, cover me—I am afraid!

Yea, in the hour of your supremest trial,
I laughed with him! The shadows on the dial
Stayed not, aghast at my dread ignorance:
Nor man nor angel looked at me askance.

Under the mountains there is peace abiding,
Darkness shall be pavilion for my hiding.
Tears shall blot out the sin of broken faith,
The lips that falsely kissed, shall kiss but Death.

—Alice Furlong.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

These are pleasant words and they come from a real authority: "Prosperity will continue because we have the largest wage fund in the history of the world, unlimited credit under the federal reserve system, and a general improvement in agricultural conditions."

It is the statement of Barron, publisher of the Wall Street Journal. Now, if men and women, both in and out of business, will keep fear out of their minds, good times will go on.

Much talk about this becoming a woman's world. England may soon find out what a woman's world would be like. The government has decided to give the vote to all women over twenty-one. The present age limit is thirty and there are many restrictions. Under the new law, women will be able to outvote men by 2,000,000. Will the day come when the house of commons and the cabinet are made up of women? And what then?

Lady Astor, speaking of the new enfranchisement of women in England, says: "The whole moral tone of the British government has been raised."

What can American observers say about woman suffrage, as far as it has gone in this country? We can at least say: "It has done no harm. It is at least just, if not beneficial."

Sixteen principles for relief in traffic conditions were laid down by experts at a Chicago convention the other day. One slogan, lived up to, would go a long way toward making city streets safe. That slogan is "Think."

Scientific research still goes on to provide proof of man's immortality, of life after death. J. Malcolm Bird, member of the "Scientific American's" investigating committee, says, "I am absolutely convinced of the reality of psychic phenomena. The living have talked with the dead."

Cardinal Newman once said something more important than that. He said he was not concerned as to when his life would end, but he was much concerned as to whether it would really begin.

Have we really begun to live? We might well put some thought on that.

Talks by Those in Public Eye.

JOHN E. EDGERTON.

John E. Edgerton is president of the National Association of Manufacturers and also of the Tennessee Association of Manufacturers. He held numerous offices in his state during the World war, chief among which were chairman of the war resources committee, member of the federal fuel and food administrations for the state, and state chairman of the United war work campaign. Edgerton was a co-founder of the Columbia, Tennessee, Military academy, and served as its principal for seven years. He is a woolen manufacturer and was born in Johnston county, North Carolina, October 2, 1879.

In a recent interview Mr. Edgerton said that our industry won the envy of the world. He said:

"As a matter of fact, American industry today is about the only thing in America that is looked upon with envy by the rest of the world. It has attained a higher degree of success than any of our professions or non-industrial pursuits or any of our other institutions.

"Yet it is the object of more attack and more efforts are being made within and without to reform it than are made in any other direction.

"If the same degree of progress in the reformation of our political, religious, moral and educational lives had been made as has been made in our industrial life, America would have very much less to worry about.

"It should be clearly understood that anything resembling the sovietization of American industry is repugnant to the American theory of democracy. Labor has the same opportunity to acquire representation in the control of a corporation as any other element in society has, and it should not expect a greater opportunity. It can acquire that representation in the control by acquiring through the purchase of stock partial ownership of the enterprise.

"The supremacy of American industry owes itself more to the insistence of the American employer upon the freedom of the individual than to any other one thing. The closed shop is a monstrosity which will never be tolerated in America until this nation relinquishes altogether its attachment to those peculiar ideals which have made it the leader of the world."

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

Some women are kinda queer about the way they make their old man do all the beating up on the kids. They're afraid the kids won't like them if they make them behave, so they leave all the disagreeable work to the dad. I guess they think it don't matter much what the kids think of their dad.

Well, there was a woman like this and her darling boy was playing out in the street. She went to the window and yelled at him to come in out of the street. The kid didn't pay no attention to her, because he knew she'd never make him do anything. So she told him a lot more times, and finally went out to the curb and cried.

"Willie dear," she said, "Mama will go crazy if you don't come in out of the street! I'm afraid you'll be killed, you darling child!"

"O fergit it, Ma," says Willie. "Dad'll be home at 6 o'clock, and he'll make me come in right enough. You won't go crazy before 6, I reckon."—Copyright, 1927.

Today's Events.

Friday, April 22, 1927.

Ten years ago today Paris celebrated the entry of the United States into the war.

The International Seamen's Union of America today observed its thirty-fifth anniversary.

The Prince of Wales was scheduled to arrive in Madrid today on a visit to their majesties of Spain.

The annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science opened a two-day session in Philadelphia today.

The Classical Association of New England met for its twentieth annual session today at Holy Cross college, Worcester, Massachusetts.

The official Japanese delegation to the disarmament conference embarked today at Kobe enroute to Geneva, Switzerland.

Three hundred delegates, representing every state in the union, and fraternal delegates from Canada, England and Mexico, met in Boston today for the annual convention of the workers' educational bureau of the American Federation of Labor.

In the World of Labor.

Shanghai has more than forty institutions for vocational education.

California is the only state having two cities of over 600,000 population.

The Order of Sleeping Car Conductors is now in the tenth year of its existence.

Ninety-seven per cent. of the working class families in Bombay are housed in one-room tenements.

The National Association of Letter Carriers will hold its 1927 convention at El Paso next September.

In Denmark there has been established an arbitration court with power to settle any dispute between the state and its employes.

The Western Federation of Miners, of which much was heard a few years ago, is now known as the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' union.

Twenty Years Ago.

This day was Monday.

Mr. T. P. Wallace was very ill at his home on Delaware avenue.

Rev. L. A. Belt, twice a pastor of the Methodist church when it stood where Cummin Memorial building now stands, later a presiding elder of that denomination, died at his home in Kenton, aged seventy. He was pastor here for three years in the 70ties and for three years in the eighties.

"The Lion and the Mouse" came back to the Grand for a return date and played to capacity audience, despite the fact that the Forepaugh and Sells Bros.' show night.

R. E. Mitchell purchased the White laundry from Peter E. Turner.

Forest fires were raging in many parts of New England.

Serious labor riots were in progress in P[ar]is.

Mrs. Henry M. Stone, of Cleveland, was guest of Mrs. George B. Scofield, of Bellefontaine avenue.

Mrs. Charles M. Landon was visiting Newville friends.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. R. Wyetle, of Bartram avenue.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. [Ja]Allen, of Pennsylvania avenue.

The George E. Salmon residence on Mc[Ki]non avenue was badly damaged by fire. [Th]very valuable furniture of Dr. Frank [Ca]staff, consisting largely of splendid gifts [fr]friends and admirers, was saved with the [ex]ception of one bedroom set.

Forepaugh and Sells Bros.' show played [to] over 13,000.

A new hospital car was placed in [co]sion on the Erie.

The first carload of rails for the C., D. [&] M. extensions arrived.

Mrs. Susan Amanda Powers, a most [be]esteemed religious woman, died at her [ho]on east Church street.

An effort was being made to secure the [si]of the fairground for a golf course by [th]who had been playing on the course at [Ba]field Heights.

The ballground at Marion park was in [ex]lent shape.

Dinner Stories.

A country wedding was in full swing. [The] minister asked the congregation if there [was] any one there who objected to the wedding. Silence was pronounced, but all of a sudden the unlucky admirer of the girl stood up.

"I object."

"And what is your objection based on?" asked the minister.

"Because I want the girl myself," answered the boy.

Mr. Meeker was pacing the floor in one of [his] tantrums.

"Henrietta," he finally squeaked, "I'm tired of carrying all those groceries home every [day]."

"Yes?" inquired Mrs. Meeker, coldly.

"Yes," he concluded firmly, "and I am going to buy a little express wagon tomorrow."

Harris: "And your brother, who was in so hard to get a government job—what's he doing now?"

Brown: "Nothing—he got the job."

A Scotsman who had signed the pledge met one of his old cronies. They chatted for a time and then his friend said:

"Well, Tam, are ye for a gless?"

"No," replied Tam. "I've signed the pledge but if ye dinna mind I'll tak the one o' [ye]pence."

PLANS NEARLY COMPLETE FOR GYM EXHIBITION

Harding High Girls To Appear at Star Auditorium May 3 and 4

One of the long-anticipated events of the school year is the demonstration of physical education presented by students of the girls' gym classes of Harding High School each spring, under the direction of Miss Rachel McAfee, physical instructor in the local senior and junior high schools. The program this year will be a gymnasium exhibition to be presented May 3 and 4 at the Star Auditorium.

Students of the ninth grade girls' gym classes of Central and Vernon Heights Junior High School, also under Miss McAfee's supervision, will be included in this year's program a total of 575 young women to take part.

To Wear Uniform Suits

For the first time since the institution of the exhibition as an annual event, the girls will be supplied with uniform suits of black sateen.

The program will include a grand march, formal gymnastics, drills and a feature number by the girls of the senior class who have studied symbolic dancing.

Tickets will be placed on sale Monday and may be purchased from any student of the gymnasium classes. All seats will be reserved through the High School April 28 and 29.

JINX STILL PURSUING MARION INSURANCE MAN

Henry "Bud" Lawson Reports Theft of Fourth Bicycle in Two Years

The jinx continues to pursue Henry "Bud" Lawson, well-known local baseball player and insurance agent, and his bicycle.

In fact Bud, according to the latest report, appears to be about one lap behind the jinx in a race which started some two years ago, the story of which rivals the account of the Prince of Wales and his difficulties as a horseback rider.

In these two years, Lawson, who resides at 499 Elmwood-dr and has an insurance office in the Citizens building on W. Center-st, has had four bicycles stolen. The last theft occurred yesterday when he parked his two-wheeled vehicle near his office and found it missing about 10 minutes later.

Bicycle No. 3 was stolen from the same place about two months ago. No. 1, taken from near his home at the beginning of the two-year jinx period, was recovered and then stolen a second time.

Warns Middle-Aged Women To Watch These Danger Signs

Thousands of women at the changing time of life are in serious danger—because of poisonous waste matter accumulating in the system, polluting the blood stream and overworking the heart and kidneys, often resulting in chronic hepatic torpidity, gall bladder inflammation or even gall stones.

The symptoms—danger signs—that should be closely watched are dizziness, headaches, shortness of breath, gas in stomach and bowels, pressure or sharp pains in right side that often shoot through to the back, coated tongue, bad breath, lack of ambition, weakness, nervousness, and nights of restless misery.

Failure to heed "these warning signs" in time may mean months or even years of miserable ill health and perhaps a dangerous surgical operation!

Everyone near or past middle life should guard against hepatic torpidity or any form of gall bladder trouble. And in the opinion of the writer one of the best things in the world for conditions of this kind is the inexpensive home use of Klax-Ko tablets, which Bradley Drug Store or any other good druggist supply on a binding guarantee to refund their cost, if genuinely beneficial results are not obtained inside of a week! "Klax-Ko" tablets have brought new life and health to hundreds and they most positively do the same for you or their use will not cost you a penny. Try them today.—Adv.

Convention Committee Reports on Work.

Committees and workers serving at the business sessions of the thirty-first annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Woman's Clubs to be held at the First Presbyterian Church the first week in May will meet at the church at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, May 2, when they will complete the details of their various duties and arrange the placing of the committees. Arrangements for this were made at a meeting of members of the convention committee last night in the library auditorium. Announcements and reports on the work of the committees were made showing that plans for entertaining the delegates and guests are well in hand.

Mrs. George Smith who is in charge of arrangements for the convention banquet Thursday night, May 5, will be assisted by Mrs. W. F. Pasters, Mrs. Carl Leffler and Mrs. O. G. Stephenson. Reservations for tickets should be made with Mrs. Smith for this banquet. A request was made that names of all local delegates be sent to Mrs H. K. Henderson and also that club women reporting rooms for reservation get in touch with Mrs. John McNamara.

Complete details and arrangements will be announced at the meeting of the federation at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at the Community Home.

What Has Gone Before

To the home of PROF and MOLLIE ELWELL in Camden-ton, Ind., one night in October, 1918, is brought a woman who had collapsed on a train. That night she bears twin girls and dies without revealing her name.

The story then moves forward 9 years. The twins, now growing to beautiful womanhood, have been adopted and named MARGARET and ELIZABETH. They are called RUSTY and BETTY.

JIM ELWELL, the son, enlists in the World War. He then discovers that one of the twins loves him.

He is shell-shocked at the Battle of Sedan and at first is reported dead. Finally he is identified at a New York hospital and his mother and father hasten to him to find that his memory is gone that he is like a living dead man.

Specialists despair of his recovery. They believe an operation might be fatal. His parents decide to take him home. The day before they are to leave NURSE NELLIE DOWNING and his mother leave him for a few minutes and he disappears.

Now Begin the Story

CHAPTER XXXI

"HE'S gone!" burst from Mollie Elwell in tones of dismay. She asked Nellie Downing, "Do you suppose he followed us? He wouldn't be likely, do you think, to wander off the other way into the woods?"

The nurse stood speechless, stricken with sudden fear.

"Oh dear!" Mollie cried a little wildly, her glance darting here and there, "it's getting to be just one thing after another. Where is he? Where can he have gone to?"

She wrung her hands in helplessness, paced back and forth wildly. "What had we better do? Go back and get some help? Turn in an alarm?"

Contrition had laid hold of Nellie Downing. It was her fault entirely, she was telling herself miserably. She ought not to have left Jim alone. Why had she done it? It was she, even, who had suggested it. She, a nurse, who should have known better.

"It's my fault," she said to Mollie Elwell. "It's all my fault. We'll go right to the superintendent. He'll know what to do. Jim must have followed the path out of the park. He's familiar with that and he never tries anything he hasn't tried before. We probably will find him up near the administration building."

She spoke with an assurance, an optimism she was far from feeling. Fear held her in its grip. Where had Jim Elwell gone?

They didn't find Jim at the administration building but they found the superintendent.

He spoke briefly when he had heard the story. "We'll start a search right away."

The supervisors of the different buildings were notified by telephone that a psychopathic patient was missing. Within ten minutes 50 searchers, including orderlies, internes, nurses who weren't needed for something else and others about the institution were called into action. It was half past four when the hunt started.

The five o'clock trolley brought Prof and Mike Hennegan. The hunt still was on. At five-thirty two bloodhounds, kept for just such emergencies, were taken to the rustic seat where Jim had been seen last and given his scent. They took up the trail on a right leash. It led straight back to the administration building and stopped at the place where the trackless trolleys stopped.

The two dogs settled back on their haunches, pointed their noses up in the air and gave voice to their reasonings. Then they stretched out with their bellies on the ground and licked their chops. This was dogcode, their keeper stated, which signified that the trail now led up in the air.

"But he couldn't have boarded one of the trolley buses," averred the superintendent, though none too positively. "The driver would have seen at once that something was wrong when he couldn't collect the fare. He would have brought him back and notified us."

Mike Hennegan broke in at this point with something to show that the superintendent easily might be wrong in his deductions and the hound dogs perfectly right in theirs.

"The driver wouldn't have been likely to notice a thing out of the way with the fare-paying business," he announced positively. "Jim could pay his fare as well as anybody when he had the fare to pay. Did he have any money on him, Prof?"

"He must have had nearly a dollar," Prof Elwell answered. "And," he added, "it's ten to one that's just what happened. He boarded the trolley bus an' got off at the street car connection. Probably the Staten Island police already have picked him up."

He turned to Mollie and Nellie Downing, whose faces had lighted, as he finished speaking, with a new hope.

"You say it was about five minutes to four when you left him in the park?" Prof asked.

"About ten minutes of, I think," said Nellie Downing.

"Well, if he followed you right up he could have been at this spot at four o'clock, the time the bus left here."

Prof Elwell's glance shifted back to the superintendent.

"Who's the driver of that bus, Mr. Dennison?" he inquired. "And when will he be back?"

"George Burdick is the driver," the hospital head told him. He looked at his watch, adding, "He's due here about six o'clock. It's five-fifty now."

They waited for the bus, deciding to stay where they were until that lead had been run down.

The bus driver arrived promptly on schedule.

"Why, yes, that young feller rode with me," he told the anxious questioners when he had brought his car to a stop in front of the administration building. "I didn't know that anything was wrong with him in particular. He got off all right at the transfer station and I saw him get on the ferry car."

Prof repeated blankly, "You saw him get on the ferry car?"

"Absolutely."

"We must follow him at once, Prof," said Mollie from her stand at his side. She spoke without excitement, but in her anxious eyes lurked the dark specter of a new and unnamed fear.

"Don't you think we had better call the Staten Island police first?" Nellie Downing asked. "They may, perhaps, have picked him up at the ferry." The nurse was trembling, Prof laid a steady hand on her arm.

"Don't take this too much to heart, young lady," he commanded gruffly. "And don't get it into your head that it's your fault. Who in thunder would have thought that he'd walk off like that? He might have done it on me or Mike or Mollie—anyone."

She had no right, he concluded, blaming herself.

Nellie Downing shot him a grateful look. "Nevertheless I should have known better. I was responsible for him."

"You've already done more than anyone could expect of you," Prof told her. "I don't know what we'd have done without your help. Don't worry, now—and you, too," to Mollie who was clinging to him. "We'll find him all right."

The Staten Island police were notified but they could provide no solution to their problem, and so, when the six o'clock trolley started back to town, it carried Jim's father and mother, Nellie Downing and the faithful Mike Hennegan.

Mike now was swearing softly to himself. "A damn shame," he kept repeating; "a damn shame, that's what it is."

The ticket-taker at the ferry dock, a man of 50 or there abouts to whom they all had become familiar during the summer, was getting ready to go home. He had, he said, noticed Jim Elwell—or one who answered his description—late that afternoon. He was pretty sure it was Jim, though, for he had commented to himself on his being alone. Yes, he had been wearing a gray summer suit and a straw hat.

"Well," said Nellie Downing when they finly had found a place to stand in the bow of the crowded ferry boat, "the best thing for us to do now is to get a taxi at the Battery and go right to police headquarters."

"It's the only thing to do," agreed Prof.

There was a reporter on one of the New York papers Nellie Downing went on, who might be able to help them with the police.

"His name is Jack Nevin. He's on the Planet. I think he works regularly at police headquarters, although I don't know much about how such things are run. I think he used to work for the City News Bureau, and he's well acquainted with most of the police around headquarters.

Jack Nevin, she went on, had been a second lieutenant in a New York regiment. She had met him first in a hospital in Paris. He had left a leg on the bank of the Argonne.

"I saw him again on the day of my return from France and he told me he was on the Planet staff and still was called upon to do a lot of police reporting. If anyone can help us Jack can."

Silence fell over the anxious little group. The impending storm that had been voicing its approach for three hours and more in low rumblings was now sending its heralds of wind flurries in from the ocean. The shadows of night were beginning to spread over New York Bay. Occasionally the sky was lit up with a flash of lightning, to be followed by the heavy roll of thunder.

The four peered into the fast-gathering gloom ahead. A colossal statue, which but a moment before had stood out in plain relief on their left, was only dimly discernible now. Suddenly as they looked they saw a light flash into life at the end of the outstretched arm. It was the beacon torch of Liberty and the signal gleam it sent across the waters touched for a fleeting instant the face of Mollie Elwell.

It picked out her features as if they had been cameo against a dead black cloth. And Prof, who was watching, was startled.

"Mollie!" he exclaimed, frightened, for the expression on her face had made him fearful. "Mollie, dear, don't take it so to heart. We'll find the boy."

His wife turned to him with a patient smile, a smile so pitiful that the words choked in Prof Elwell's throat.

As the four of them stepped from the boat at the foot of Battery Park the long threatening storm broke. For more than an hour they were held with other passengers in the hot confinement of an inadequate waiting room. Finally the downpour lessened enough to enable them to reach the shelter of a taxicab, and the search was on in earnest.

She Got Rid of Those Two Bad Mornings

Menstruation is a perfectly natural process, but the painful part is NEEDLESS. Long study has absolutely conquered menstrual pain. Science now offers women reliable and complete relief—in a simple, utterly harmless tablet called midol.

This newest achievement of the laboratory has nothing to do with drastic, habit-forming drugs that kill pain by benumbing the whole system! Midol acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and nowhere else. Yet relief and absolute comfort comes in five to seven minutes!

So, why have a twinge of pain—feel "blow" or even uncomfortable? Or take anything to depress the heart or upset the system? All drug stores have midol in a thin aluminum box that tucks in purse or pocket—for 50 cents.

Women's Modern Hygiene

More absorbent—
Discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

FEW women today cling to the old-time "sanitary pad"—risky and uncertain—because of a new way called KOTEX.

✓ It ends the embarrassment of laundry and disposal. You discard Kotex as easily as tissue.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads. Thus you wear sheer gowns and gay frocks under the most trying conditions.

Also deodorizes, and thus ends all fear of offending. 80% better class women now use it. Doctors widely urge it. Most hospitals employ it.

Costs only a few cents for a package of 12 at any drug or department store. Be sure you get the genuine KOTEX, for only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

Love's Embers

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Mrs. Tiver's Place

THAT Mrs. Tiver and Jerry, her son, were full of important news, I knew as soon as I caught sight of their honest, friendly faces. During my years at the farm, I have grown so familiar with the facial expressions of these sterling neighbors, who have helped us through so many domestic difficulties, that I did not need Mrs. Tiver's quietly signaling eyebrows, nor Jerry's abrupt driving of his car to the rear of the house after his mother and Noel Veritzen had alighted, to know that they wished to consult me about something. So after warmly greeting my neighbor and young Veritzen, who upon our recommendation had been staying at the Tiver farmhouse while his broken hand healed, I left the youth to the hospitality of Dicky and my mother-in-law, and took Mrs. Tiver inside the house upon the first flimsy pretense which occurred to me.

But before I went, I spoke in a quiet aside to young Veritzen.

"I'll tell Mary you're here," I said, and smiled to myself at the ingenuous flush which rose to his cheek at my promise. He was so patently and wholeheartedly in love with Dicky's lovely young niece, and treated so lightly the suffering and loss of income, resulting from the injury to his hand, sustained when defending Mary from Jack Leslie, that I had not the heart to put any obstacle in the path of his wooing.

For wooing it was, as unmistakable as it was naive, with a history back of it which invested it with unusual romance and drama. The young violinist, lonely, saddened by his estrangement from his father, had kept aloof from the hectic associations of the cabaret where his unusual gifts as a musician enabled him to earn his living, and had preserved a certain boyish ingenuousness rare indeed, in Broadway's experience. When Mary, deceiving us all, yielded to Jack Leslie's urging and became the mysterious masked dancer at the night-club where Leslie danced and Veritzen played the violin, Noel fell in love with her, and despite appearances, believed implicitly in her innocence of any intrigue with Leslie. His discovery of her identity, and of Leslie's plot against her, and his dramatic part in her rescue, were still fresh in my mind—and I knew in Mary's also.

But I knew, what I guessed Noel also surmised, that Mary's heart was like a sheet of blank paper with no script yet showing upon it. The romantic, single-hearted boy was so joyously thankful for the discovery that Mary was not in love with Jack Leslie, that he was reconciled to the fact of there being no touch of sentiment in the frank liking intensified by gratitude which the young girl accorded himself. He was content to be able to see her every day, something which I guessed was the strongest attraction he found in his arrangement to stay at the Tiver farmhouse during his convalescence.

Lilliam Underwood had suggested the place in the conferences which she, Hugh Grantland and I had held concerning the young violinist in the days succeeding our spectacular rescue of Mary from Jack Leslie. Hugh, indeed, with generous impulses as large as his wealth, would have installed Noel in luxurious seaside quarters until his playing hand should have regained its suppleness. But Noel, with almost savage independence, had refused to accept anything at anyone's hands. His small savings and his meager income from the little property left him by his mother, would keep him in humble comfort at the Tiver farmhouse, with a small surplus. That he was spending this last in small attentions to Mary we all surmised.

To do Philip Veritzen justice, I believe that had he known of his son's money, he would have come forward with proffered aid, though Noel in all probability would have refused it. But because of Mary's serious illness and the fact that no one but she herself ought to tell the dramatic producer of her deception, he had been kept in ignorance of the affair in which Noel was injured, nor was the night-club proprietor better informed. Noel simply disappeared from Broadway, and found a homely, hospital haven at the Tiver farm. But as Mrs. Tiver turned a worried face to me, I wondered with a little premonition of annoyance, whether anything had happened to disturb that eminently satisfactory arrangement.

Living and Loving

BY AGNES VIRGINIA LEE

THE phrase, "holding one's husband," is like a red rag waved in my face, I confess. Why should a woman want to "hold" a man? Why should any man expect a woman to make an effort to "hold him"? It is unspeakably humiliating to me for women to think they must go through all kinds of contortions and make themselves over to suit some man's pattern. If you can not keep physically attractive and mentally alert for your own sake, it is hardly worth doing. And the man who is not loyal enough to be true to the wife he has chosen is not usually worth "holding." Magazines and newspapers are full of advice to women on this subject, but nary a word to the husbands about how to keep the wife's love and admiration.

Poor "Heartsick" naturally did not know of my pet prejudice when she sent in the following letter or she probably would not have entrusted her private grief to me.

DEAR Mrs. Lee: After five years of happy married life I fear my husband is losing interest in me. I have a friend, a young business woman, of whom he seems very fond. They have lunch together down town frequently and when she comes here to visit us they have so much to say to one another that I feel out in the cold. I have always been a home woman. We have a nice home and I have help with my housework. We have no children. Mrs. Lee, how can I hold my husband?

HEARTSICK",

MY guess is that you need not doubt his loyalty. The very fact that he chats and lunches with this young woman openly is proof that he thinks nothing more of her than a congenial companion. They have mutual interests and enjoy talking together. And I also guess that you have not enough to do and think too much of yourself and thus get "notions." Why don't you get interested in things outside your home? There are unfortunate children to be mothered, handicapped men and women in all walks of life who need a helping hand and you have the time to do much good. Why not get in touch with some of these people through your doctor, your church, hospital or the courts and do what you can to lighten the burdens of others. And you can always take an intelligent interest in the things that interest your husband and friend, you know, and then you can join in the conversation and will not have a feeling of being left out.

IN answer to "Bella's" letter I would say that personally—being old-fashioned—I prefer real color that comes from eating the right things, getting plenty of sleep and exercise for girls in their teens. But if you must use artificial color, I beg of you not to apply it in the lavish manner of one painting the kitchen furniture—making a mask of your face. Use discretion.

State Senate and House Are Recessed Until Monday, May 9

MAJOR PROGRAM COMPLETED IN LONG SESSION

Group of Principal Measures Now Ready for Governor's Action

Columbus, April 22—The Ohio legislature early this morning recessed until 1 P. M., Monday, May 9

During all-night sessions, lasting from 7:30 P. M. Thursday night until nearly 4 o'clock this morning, the senate and house disposed of all major measures pending on the legislative calendar.

Bills on their way to Governor Vic Donahey today, subject to his approval or veto, include

The Sullivan Bill increasing the state gasoline tax from two to three cents per gallon.

The Norton Edwards Bill, revising and recodifying Ohio's Highway Laws.

The Williamson Bill, appropriating approximately $72,500,000 to defray expenses of state governmental activities during the 18-month fiscal period, beginning July 1, next

The William sundry claims appropriation bill.

The Marshall Bill providing for compensation of justices of the peace, mayors, constables and marshals in state criminal cases in which justices of the peace and mayors have final jurisdiction.

The Etling Bill, providing for the disposition of fines in liquor cases.

Legislative leaders today had under consideration the question of introducing another measure providing for a half-mill direct state tax levy when the solons reconvene: The Dodd Bill, authorizing collection of a half mill direct state tax levy next June, was vetoed by Governor Donahey late Thursday.

In a message to the legislature, announcing his veto of the Dodd Bill, the governor indicated that he would approve a similar bill, if properly drawn.

Plan Conference

Legislative leaders, including Sen. C. C. Bolton, Cleveland, and Rep. Martin Dodd, Toledo, senate and house Republican floor leaders, respectively, plan to confer with Governor Donahey, it was stated, relative to the proposal that they reach an agreement upon provisions of another half-mill direct state tax levy measure providing for collection next December.

During their all-night session, the senators passed 34 bills, defeated three, concurred in house amendments to seven measures, adopted two resolutions and agreed to four conference committee reports, including those relating to the Sullivan gasoline tax increase bill, the Norton-Edwards highway recodification bill and the Williamson general appropriations bill.

Action Deferred

The legislators deferred action relative to Governor Donahey's veto, late Thursday, of the Ott Bill, providing for increases in the salaries of the judges of the state supreme court, the court of appeals and courts of common pleas.

In his message to the house, dealing with his veto of the Ott Bill, the governor stated that, in his opinion, the proposed maximums for appellate and common pleas judges "are too high in comparison with the proposed salaries for the judges of the supreme court."

After passing the house, the Forney Bill, proposing a 10 per cent tax upon the sale of cigarets, pends in the hands of the senate finance committee.

The Sullivan gasoline tax increase bill, as it goes to the governor, retains the senate amendments reducing the annual state license fee on pleasure autos 50 per cent and make it possible to subject the bill to a referendum.

The senate having approved house amendments to the Dearmond Bill authorizing abandonment, for canal purposes, of the Miami and Erie canal between Middletown and Cincinnati, the bill now goes to the governor. The house amended the bill so as to give Hamilton County industrial plants until Jan. 1, 1929, to arrange for power service other than that now derived from water from this canal.

Commissioners Securing Approval of Road Bond Issue

Preliminary to delivering $22,042 worth of bonds for the improvement of the East River-Cardington-rd to a Cincinnati concern next Monday, Marion County commissioners were in Cleveland today to obtain approval of the issue by Squires, Sanders & Dempsey, bond attorneys.

Slightly more than four miles of this road is to be improved this year, according to County Surveyor Cecil R. Leavens. The work will be started in the near future.

Green Camp High Vocational Agriculture Students Form Tree-Spraying Company

WHAT is conceded to be one of the most unusual business organizations in Marion County has been formed among students in the vocational agricultural department at the Green Camp Centralized School

This concern in the form of a stock company, has been organized among students to purchase and operate a fruit tree spraying outfit. Stock in the company was subscribed by students

Under the direction of J. F. Johnson the company bought a power spray pump and mounted it with a large tank on a Ford chassis.

Spray 800 Trees

Manned by students this spraying outfit has visited nearly 30 orchards in Green Camp and adjoining townships and applied the first coat of spray to more than 800 fruit trees

Starting April 4 students began using dormant spray for control of the San Jose scale. This work was completed April 15. The second round of spraying started yesterday. This operation is known as pink spraying, applying insect killing spray to trees as the first pink blossoms appear.

Sliding Pay Scale

For this work the students have a sliding pay scale, charging the farmer four cents a gallon when 100 gallons or over are required, five cents for from 50 to 100 gallons and six cents for all under 50 gallons.

The work and profits are apportioned among the students. In addition each student is paid for the number of hours he works.

CHIANG TO PAY INDEMNITY FOR NANKING LIVES

Chinese General Hopes To Maintain Friendship with All Powers

Shanghai, April 22 -Gen Chiang Kai Shek is prepared to pay full indemnity for lives lost, property and personal damage, occasioned by the Nanking incidents.

This statement was made to the International News Service today by Capt. Alfred E. Crosse a Franco-American who is connected with the Nanking government and returned today from Nanking where he talked with Chiang Kai Shek and leaders in his government.

Chiang Kai Shek's object is to maintain the friendship of the powers and to obtain the revision of unequal treaties and the retrocession of the foreign concessions through diplomacy instead of force Captain De Crosse said.

See Reapproachment

The Nanking government De Crosse stated has issued and signed a denunciatory warrant for the arrest of 116 Wuhan leaders, all alleged communists, including Michael Borodin, Russian adviser to the Hankow government. Several other Russians are included among those from whom warrants have been issued.

General Galen and all Russian officers have been dismissed from Chiang's forces. Chiang will not attack Chang Tso Lin's northern forces if Chang Tso Lin recognizes Sun Yat Sen's principles, De Crosse said, indicating the possibility of a reapproachment between Chiang and Chang Tso Lin.

Two thousand Russians and 7,000 Shantung troops, surrounded by Nationalist troops, are in Pukow and continue to shell Nanking, De Crosse said. These shells are coming principally from guns mounted for armored trains and are taking a daily toll of lives in Nanking.

The normal population of Nanking, which is 1,000,000, has been cut down by the flight of the panic-stricken populace. Few shops are open and business is at a standstill with the city over-run with soldiers.

Chiang Reinforced

Streams of reinforcements for Chiang are pouring in from Shanghai to Nanking in preparation to Chiang's personally-directed drive against the supporters of the Hankow government, De Crosse said.

Unescorted Chinese and occasional foreigners who enter Nanking are immediately arrested and taken to headquarters and grilled and kept under surveillance until their departure, De Crosse said.

All consulates are deserted and sealed, De Crosse said. The consulates, he added, have not been damaged.

TO FORMULATE COUNTY ROAD BUILDING PROGRAM

Commissioners To Review Surveyor Leavens' Estimates Next Week

Extent of Marion County's road building program will be decided by Marion County commissioners next Wednesday or Thursday when that board reviews estimates prepared by County Surveyor Cecil R. Leavens

According to figures in the office of the county engineer estimates have been prepared on contract working in solving approximately $140,000. In view of the fact that there is practically $100,000 with which to finance the road building program in the county this year, considerable induction of the program is anticipated.

This work does not include the regular maintenance program which is well under way in the county. It involves only contract jobs for building new highways.

ACCOUNT IS PAID AFTER 27 YEARS

A 27 year old account amounting to $2.50 was settled by Marion County Probate Court yesterday when a check for that amount was turned over to The Harding Publishing Co. for a legal notice published in the Marion Mirror on March 8, 1900.

Payment for publication of the notice involving an estate was held up pending settlement of the costs in the case.

Old accounts of the Mirror, which later was named the Marion Tribune, came into possession of the Harding Publishing Co. when it purchased the Marion Tribune several years ago.

MRS. FRANCES STEWART HEART DISEASE VICTIM

Body To Be Shipped to Gallipolis for Burial; Services Tonight

Mrs. Frances S. Stewart, 82, widow of F. G Stewart, died at 5 o'clock this morning at her home 656 Oak-st. Leakage of the heart and infirmities of age was assigned as the cause of her death. She had been ill ten days.

Funeral services will be held at 7 o'clock tonight at her late home in charge of Dr B. L. George, pastor of Epworth M. E. Church. The body will be shipped to Gallipolis, O., at 6:40 o'clock Saturday morning by the C. E. Curtis and Co. Following continued services there at 3 p. m. burial will be made in the Rio Grande Cemetery.

Mrs Stewart was the daughter of Ethelinda and Peter Lawrence, the former of Maryland and the latter of Maine, and was born Feb. 18, 1845, in Albany, O She was married to F. G Stewart Feb. 1, 1869, in Lawrence County. Mr. Stewart preceded her in death 12 years ago. She was a member of Epworth M. E. Church, of the Powell Sunday School Class and of the W. R. C. Society.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Ethel Neal, 905 E. Church-st, Mrs. F. M. McKeever, 650 Oak-st, and Mrs. E. V. Neal of Lockbourne, O., one brother, J. F. Lawrence, of Everson, Wash., 11 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

number drowned when the Scott levee gave way. Hundreds were working on the levee, frantically topping it with sand bags, when the structure crumbled. Workers fled for their lives but scores may have been drowned, it was feared.

A dozen small villages and thousands of acres of land were immediately put under water and a check or search for the dead was impossible at the moment. No bodies had been recovered early today.

EIGHTEEN DROWNED AS LAUNCH SINKS

Helena, Ark., April 22—Officials today were investigating the sinking of the government launch Pelican near Knowltons' landing yesterday when 18 persons are believed to have been drowned.

Don Farmer, engineer, and Jimmy Hawkins, pilot, were drowned along with 16 white flood refugees they were rescuing, according to word brought here by R. T. Clark, an eye-witness to the tragedy.

Clark procured a boat and risked his life to cross the river to tell of the tragedy.

Red Cross officials, here on the flood situation, boarded the steamer Chase which immediately set out for Knowlton's landing to investigate the disaster.

The steam Wabash arrived last night from the vicinity of the tragedy and the crew reported that hundreds were marooned on hills and housetops, and expressed belief that scores would drown unless they were rescued immediately.

FLOOD SITUATION MORE CRITICAL

New Orleans, April 22—With the Mississippi River rising nearly a foot daily, the flood situation in Mississippi and Louisiana became more critical today.

Cold rain and wind storms swept the lower Mississippi Valley during the night, adding to the sufferings of the thousands of refugees gathered in camps. Temperatures from Atlanta, Ga., south and west dropped on an average of 25 degrees.

The vast territory between Natchez, Miss., and New Orleans, is endangered by the break on the levee at Scott Landing, and the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley Railroad has annulled all trains north of Vicksburg. The Missouri & Pacific and Texas & Pacific were also forced to cancel some trains.

Gov. Dennis Murphree has appealed to President Coolidge to supply relief for 150,000 homeless. Many refugees are moving into Jackson and other high places on the Mississippi A great many more tents are needed, it was said

Uses Army of Workers

The federal government has placed Major John C. Lee in charge of the river fight, and he has amassed a great army which is working with shovel, dirt and bags of sand, from Vicksburg to New Orleans to stop the mad river from breaking through at any weak point. Another army of men are fighting the river from Angola to New Orleans.

The fight at Goodhope, La., where the waters threatened to crash the levee was finally won, engineers believed. Nearly 2,000 men are at work on the Carolton Levee and another 1,000 are reinforcing the protection levee outside this city.

The Arkansas River at Little Rock is rising a foot a day, causing much anxiety to the engineer board of Louisiana but they said they thought that the levees would be able to hold.

bring the organizations activities to a close.

Executive Committee

The executive committee, in addition to the vice chairman, consists of Miss Doughty, secretary, Mrs. H. K. Henderson, Mrs. Lewis Uhl, Mrs. Frank Phillips, Mrs. C. E. Henney, John A. Schoeter, S. K. Gorham, C. C. Fisher, Morris Hubn, C. B. Stoll, Fire Chief T. J. McFarland and T. L. Fahey. Mr. Fahey is also treasurer of the organization.

The Marion County Chapter of the Red Cross was organized on April 9, 1917, at a meeting held at the home of Dr. James W. McMurray, who has been actively identified with the work of the organization during all of the 10 years that it has functioned.

The first officers were Grant E. Mouser, Sr., chairman, S. K Gorham, vice chairman; H. T. Gracely, secretary and A. C Edmondson treasurer

Tremendous Work

The Red Cross here handled a tremendous amount of work during the World War, hundreds of women contributing their services as volunteers in preparing supplies for the soldiers overseas. After the war the organization continued its function, serving as the community's chief center of relief and charity activities.

Hundreds of needy families have received attention annually from the Red Cross chapter, an extensive program of health service for the poor and in the public schools have been carried on as well as various other activities

Chairmen of the local Red Cross Chapter during the 10 years since its organization in 1917 have been Grant E. Mouser, Sr., J. W. Jacoby, Dr. J. W McMurray, J. E. Phillips and Guy H. Hulse.

Following the resignation of Mr. Hulse last fall, unsuccessful efforts were made to induce some representative citizen to fill the vacancy. Two business men were elected by the executive committee and both declined to accept the chairmanship.

MRS. CLARA M. SCHAEFER IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Wife of A. J. Schaefer Dies Following Operation at Bellevue Hospital

Mrs. Clara M. Schaefer, 35, of 917 E. Church-st, wife of Alphonse Joseph Schaefer, foreman of the Marion Glass Manufacturing Co., died at 7:20 o'clock this morning in the Bellevue Hospital at Bellevue, where Tuesday morning she had undergone an operation for the removal of gallstones Pneumonia was assigned as the cause of death. She had been ill only a short time.

The body was removed to Tiffin, her former home, where Monday morning services will be held at the St. Joseph's Catholic Church. Burial will be in the St. Joseph's Cemetery there

Mrs. Schaefer was born in Cumberland, Md., April 11, 1892 and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rairick, who now reside in Tiffin. Her marriage to Mr. Schaefer was solemnized in Tiffin Oct. 24, 1911. She had made her home in Marion for the last 10 years and was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church, of the Catholic Ladies of Columbia, and of the Altar Society of the Catholic Church.

Her parents, husband, five sisters, Mrs. William Schertzer, Misses Aurelia, Margaret, and Frances Rairick of Tiffin, and Miss Gertrude Rairick of Toledo, and four brothers, Lawrence Rairick, 346 Park-blvd. Bernard Rairick of Toledo, and Herman and Henry Rairick of Tiffin, survive.

fendant have indicated in their questioning of talesmen that they intend to admit that Mrs. Snyder entered a murder conspiracy with Gray, her lover, but backed out before the crime was committed. Gray's lawyers indicated he will throw the blame on the woman, saying she dominated him and forced him to beat her husband to death.

The state, it is said, will produce a witness who actually saw Gray hand Mrs. Snyder two weeks before Snyder's death the sash weight with which the husband was bludgeoned. The prosecution will seek to prove that the crime was long premeditated and deliberately carried out.

It has required the examination of 244 talesmen to produce the seven jurors.

The jurors selected so far are William E. Young, (foreman) press agent, married, 38; Charles B. Meissner, landscape gardener, married, 45; Harry Arnold, clerk, unmarried, 29; Herman Ballweg, retired saloonkeeper, married, 63; Albert R. BURLEY J. BEEMAN, 43, DROPS DEAD AT MILLS

Heart Trouble Causes Sudden Death of Miller; Arrangements Incomplete

Burley J. Beeman, 43, of 125 W. George-st dropped dead of heart trouble at 9 o'clock this morning at the Marion National Mills where he was employed as a miller. He had been suffering from heart trouble for some time

Mr. Beeman was born Oct. 30, 1883, in Knox County and was the son of Tabitha Tobinson and Thomas Beeman of Danville, O. His parents both preceded him in death. He was married in Mt. Vernon, O., in 1902. He was a member of Central Christian Church and of Canby Lodge, No. 51, Knights of Pythias.

Surviving with his widow Mrs. Jessie Beeman, is one daughter, Florence, at home. A brother, Willard Beeman of Mt. Vernon also survives.

Definite funeral arrangements have not been made. Rev. C. E Groves pastor of Central Christian Church, will officiate and burial will be in Marion Cemetery.

TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

Tom Field, 26, negro, who says that his home is in Memphis, Tenn., was taken into custody at the Union Station shortly after 3 o'clock this morning following a complaint filed at police headquarters by Charles Fouts, 725 N Main-st, whose suspicions were aroused by Fields' actions. Police say that Fields had called at several homes during the night begging for funds. He is held for investigation

MRS. GANO RETURNS

Mrs. Charles Gano, Superior-st, has returned from Columbus, where she underwent treatment at Mt Carmel Hospital. Her condition is reported improved.

MARION COUNTY SCHOOLS LEAD IN AGRICULTURE

H. G. Kenestrick, O. S. U., Confers with Local Smith-Hughes Instructors

Marion County schools are leading the entire state in the progress of vocational agricultural activities among students, it was indicated in a statement given out here today by H. G. Kenestrick, representative of Ohio State University, who is conferring with local Smith Hughes instructors

This work, which is being carried on in six of the 12 centralized schools in Marion County, including Prospect, Waldo, Pleasant, Martel, LaRue and Green Camp was instituted here several years ago Since that time the work has prospered.

At present all of the schools in the county having vocational-agricultural course as a part of the regular educational program have trained executives in charge. The men are trained for this work in special classes

Cost Shared

The cost of this course is shared by the school and state and federal government, the school paying one-half and the state and federal governments dividing the other half.

As a conspicuous example of the progress made in Marion County in this line Mr. Kenestrick pointed to the junior fair work which was started here last year. He also pointed to the work that has been undertaken by the various boys' farm clubs, affiliated with the various departments throughout the county

"The great value of this work," Mr Kenestrick pointed out, "is the practical experience that is obtained by those enrolled in the classes Not only are boys in school entitled to instruction but all young men from 16 to 25 years of age may take the course by joining farm clubs.

"In Marion County a practical program has been worked out, students doing various kinds of work at a nominal sum for farmers. Included in this work is the spraying of fruit trees, repair of tractors, oiling of harness and many other jobs, which while small in themselves come as a boon to farmers.

"It is the aim of the department handling this work at Ohio State University to arrange a program of actual farm practice. This would require that a small tract of land be farmed under plans laid out by instructors with students doing the work."

FEDERAL ST. WOMAN SUFFERED KIDNEY MISERY FOR 5½ YEARS

After Taking Matamel She Cooks and Cleans House

Trenton, N. J.—Mrs. Rebecca Colson of 138 Federal Street is on her feet again, her many friends will be glad to learn! In an interview here today she stated with great enthusiasm:

"For over five years I have been confined to bed because of back trouble, kidneys bothering me something terrible. All this started since the birth of my second child. I was not able to do my housework, no cooking or anything. I used the wonderful Matamel, and here I am doing my housework, cooking for my family and feeling many years younger. Before taking Matamel I was up many times during the night, but now I sleep right through without being disturbed. I can raise my arms. I have no more pains, no swellings, and if all others who feel as I did would try this Matamel like I did I am sure they would feel much better. No more cramps, headaches or dizzy spells".

'NO MORE GETTING UP AT NIGHT'

Matamel is a wonderful natural herb sap from Mexico. Matamel is not a patent medicine—it contains no drugs; 200,000 packages already sold, and new hundreds find relief daily, as did Mr. Galloway, Yardley, Pa.; Mrs. H. Scheller, Elizabeth, N. J., and others.

If you must get up at night, if you have awful pains in back, arms or legs, swellings, headaches and feel ready to cave in, why not give Matamel a trial? Dispensed by:

DREADED TEXAS PENITENTIARY IS REFORMING

Gov. Dan Moody Planning House-Cleaning of Prison Famed for Cruelty

Austin, Texas, April 22—The "most dreaded prison in America,"—the Texas penitentiary is undergoing a complete house cleaning. No penal institution in America, it is said, had the reputation for cruelty and mistreatment of prisoners that the state prison at Huntsville, Texas, had.

The administration of Governor Dan Moody seems sincerely in earnest in its effort to write a new chapter in the history of crime punishment in Texas. While the institution had not had such an unsavory reputation in the past few years that it enjoyed many years ago, there still is much to be done in a corrective way.

Guards known for their cruel and inhuman treatment of convicts already have been dismissed by the new prison board, and a general shake-up has been going on quietly, but none the less effectively, since last January.

Other Governors Tried

Several governors of Texas have tried, some with a small decree of success, to reform the institution during their tenure of office. Now the "boy Governor," who is just 33 years of age, is going to see what can be done, and those familiar with the situation predict that Dan Moody, as almost everyone in Texas calls him, will succeed.

There are many tales told of the barbarous treatment accorded convicts in the old days of the Texas penitentiary. Back in 1906, a youth who had just been pardoned from the institution struggled into the city room of a San Antonio daily newspaper and told a most revolting story of conditions then obtaining in the prison. The youth claimed to have seen a prisoner buried alive—merely because the physician said the man could not live until nightfall.

This was merely one of the ghastly stories the former convict told, and it so shocked the newspapermen that an investigation followed and the paper made war on the system. Conditions began to improve, but it was only a temporary respite for stories soon began to drift beyond the walls and "farm" limits telling of a return to the old "hard-boiled" way of doing things.

Other Cases

A later investigation revealed cases of prisoners being strung up by their hands until they lost consciousness, let down until they came to, and then strung up again.

While all this happened many years ago, flagrant abuse of power on the part of the prison guards and officials had come to light at intervals in recent years.

During the recent investigation into state departments and affairs, a probe ordered by legislative edict, some shocking tales were told of happenings at the penitentiary. The committee were told of a liquor party held in a room overlooking the death-house and at which a prison official was alleged to be present. The "guests" drank and made merry and cracked ribald jokes while a negro was being electrocuted for murder, according to the story told the legislative committee.

JURY EXCUSED UNTIL LEITZY TRIAL TUESDAY

Lingenfelter Divorce Hearing Scheduled for Saturday in Bucyrus Court

Bucyrus April 22—The jury in the case of the Crawford Finance Co against Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lawrence reported a verdict favoring the plaintiff late yesterday. The jury awarded the finance company the amount of $4990.60. The jurors were excused until next Tuesday when the trial of the case of the state of Ohio against Ivin Leitzy on a manslaughter charge will be heard.

Divorce Trial

Saturday, the Lingenfelter divorce case will be heard. Dr. C. A. Lingenfelter, Bucyrus optician, brought suit against his wife, Marian Lingenfelter some time ago and Mrs. Lingenfelter filed a cross petition recently. In his petition, Dr. Lingenfelter claimed that his wife would stay away from him for long periods of time and that she would not account for her whereabouts to him. He also charges that she entertained a foreigner at her home after returning from Paris and that she left their home with the visitor.

In her answer and cross petition, Mrs. Lingenfelter admits her trip to Paris but claims that she went with her husband having full knowledge of her going and that he joined her in Paris of his own volition. She also admits spending several months in California. She denies Lingenfelter's charge that she is guilty of gross neglect and extreme cruelty and claims that he forced her against a wall injuring her arms. This she claims occurred on August 17, 1926.

Mrs. Lingenfelter further makes statutory charges against her husband claiming that he used his office in Bucyrus to engage in unlawful practises. She charges that he took liberties with patients and served them liquor. He also kept a supply of liquor at his home which kept her in constant danger of a raid by prohibition officers, she says, and she claims that the doctor said that he was protected from all charges of wrong by his club affiliations and that he had the protection of public officials in the keeping of liquor in his home.

Awarded Damages

Jesse Steinhilber was awarded a verdict of $300 damages against George Brown Wednesday. The suit was filed over an automobile accident.

Files Petition

Doris C. Ricker filed a petition with Clerk of Court Edith Forrest, late yesterday, for a partition sale of real estate against Allen Durtschy and others. The petition filed by Attorney Dean Talbot of Galion is for the division of two plots of land, one of 9 acres and another of 3.1 acres both in Polk Township.

Will Filed

The will of Charles Brown of Lykens Township was filed for probate here yesterday. He bequeathed his entire estate to E. Hazel Brown with the provision that she properly care for and educate their three children, Helen Jane, Margaret Pearl, and Clarence Karl. The will was made April 7, 1927, and witnessed by O. W. Kennedy and W. L. Frazee.

LONG ILLNESS FATAL TO MRS MARY BURNISON

Funeral Services for Galion Woman To Be Held Saturday

Galion April 22—Mrs Mary Burnison, 59, died yesterday morning at her home 127 Harding Way west after an illness of long duration. Death was due to complications. Mrs Burnison has made her home in Galion for seven years and is one of Galion's oldest residents.

Funeral arrangements have been made for Saturday and will be conducted by a reader from the First Church of Christian Science where Mrs. Burnison was a member. Burial will follow in Fairview cemetery.

Mrs. Burnison was before her marriage Miss Mary Hershner and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hershner of Middletown. Her husband Alex Burnison was a well known member of the community, a prominent Erie engineer and for many years city fire marshal. One son, Harley, preceded Mrs. Burnison in death.

Surviving are a brother and sister, Adam Hershner and Mrs. Lydia Johnson.

LARGE AUDIENCE SEES OPERETTA AT MEEKER

More Than 300 Persons Attend "On a Midsummer's Day"

Meeker April 22—The school operetta "On a Midsummer's Day" staged at the Meeker School Auditorium, Wednesday night, was a great success. Over 300 witnessed the efforts of the children who gave a fine display of colorful costumes along with a rare quality of singing.

The play was directed and managed by Miss C. L. Banning, primary teacher, and Miss Josephine Perry, fifth and sixth grade teacher. The costumes were made by the Domestic Arts girls under the direction of Miss Dorothy Hague, teacher. All the faculty helped in some capacity before and during the play. Mrs. Timmons is music supervisor at Meeker.

Over $15 was taken in at the door. The money is to be used to buy necessary materials for the school and to defray expenses already incurred.

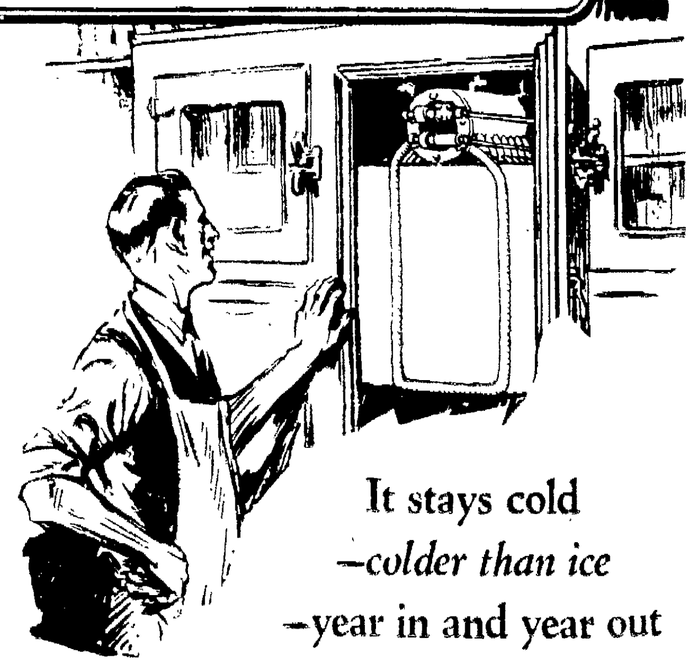
This Frigidaire Frost Coil equals 35 tons of ice a year



It stays cold —colder than ice —year in and year out

MODERN meat merchants, grocers, druggists, florists, proprietors of delicatessen shops, hotel and restaurant owners need no longer have a refrigeration problem. With the installation of Frigidaire, their refrigerator becomes cold and stays cold—colder than ice—year in, year out—without daily attention and at a cost less than ice.

Frigidaire increases net profits

Not only does Frigidaire provide better refrigeration at a lower cost but it eliminates avoidable spoilage—it enables the merchant to buy a wider selection of perishables, and to benefit by lower prices through quantity buying—it saves the time and labor of re-icing the refrigerator—it permits of tempting display of foods—it stimulates trade by establishing a reputation for better kept foods.

Deferred payment plan

Come in and discuss your refrigerating problems with us. Let us show you how the General Motors plan of deferred payments makes it easy for you to have Frigidaire installed in your refrigerating equipment now.

KENTON JUVENILE MUSIC CLUB PLANS PROGRAM

Cantata To Be Presented by Marion Lecture-Recital Group

Kenton, April 22—One of the leading events that will mark the city's observance of National Music Week, May 2-7, will be the program to be presented by the Juvenile Music Club on Monday afternoon, May 2, under the direction of Mrs. Will Lintz.

At night one of the most elaborate and unique programs of music in the city's history, is to be presented by a group of talented musicians of Kenton, appearing in a piano recital. Most of the numbers will use 16 hands, several of them with the addition of the organ. Those taking part are:

Mrs. A. F. Machetanz, Mrs. W. P. Henderson, Mrs Carl W. Smith, Caroline Protzman, Norma Duncan, Sarah Louise Kennedy, Dorothy Combs, and Eleanor Jane Machetanz. Miss Flora D. Price will appear in several of the numbers and will also preside at the organ.

Cantata Feature

An added feature of the program is the cantata, "The Legend of the Dandelion," which the Lecture-Recital Club of Marion, will give under the direction of Mrs. Machetanz. This same chorus has been chosen to open the convention of the Women's Federation of Clubs.

Ten of the members of the Young Women's Missionary society of this city will also take part in the cantata.

The Juvenile musicians' program will consist of ensemble piano and vocal numbers. The president of the Juvenile Club is Miss Katherine Louise Burkhart. Helen Park and Bobby Kraus are secretary and treasurer, respectively. Fifty-eight members are included in the club which is affiliated with both the national and state music clubs.

COUNTY SCHOOL STUDENTS TO VIE TONIGHT

Declamatory Finals To Be Held at Star Auditorium; Program Announced

Finals of the annual Marion County declamatory contest, which will bring winners in the preliminary events at Pleasant and Agosta Schools last Friday night together, will be held tonight, starting at 8 o'clock in The Star Auditorium, N. State-st. Programs for the contest were being issued today from the office of County School Supt. Charles R. Rayburn.

Music for the affair will be furnished by the combined orchestras from Caledonia, Martel and Pleasant Schools. The musical entertainment will open with four numbers, march, "La Perle de la Victoire," LaGanne; "Chanson Sacre," Gounod; "Polish Dance," Zamecnick, and "Thornrose Waltz," from "The Sleeping Beauty," Tschaikowsky.

Violin Solos

Selections in the first part of the contest will follow with a violin number, "To a Wildrose," Mellowell by Raymond Christman after the first two pieces. Another violin solo will be given at the close of orations in the the first group. This will be "Spring Song," Mendelssohn, by Miss Hazel Iler.

In connection with the four orations in the second group three musical numbers will be given, a flute solo, "The Vale," Russell by Miss Freda Holland and two concert numbers, "Up With the Flag," Bennett, and March, "Glee Club," Wellsley.

To Award Prizes

At the close of the program the decision of the judge will be announced and medals and cups awarded the winners. Only one person will judge the contest tonight, according to plans of Superintendent Rayburn.

Arrangements were being made this afternoon to accommodate a large audience. Unusually large audiences heard the preliminary events last week and it is anticipated that the attendance tonight will exceed the combined crowds of last Friday.

TICKET SALE OPENS FOR "CAPTAIN APPLE JACK"

Capacity Houses Expected To Attend De Molay Performances

The seat sale for "Captain Apple Jack," which is to be presented at the Grand Theater, Monday and Tuesday nights, by the local chapter of the Order of DeMolay, opened at the theater box office today with indications that there will be capacity houses at both performances.

Final dress rehearsal is to be held Monday, Miss Lucile Foreman, Harding High School dramatic instructor who is directing the show, stated today. She predicts that the production will be one of the best home talent entertainments ever staged in Marion.

The leading roles are to be filled by Wilfred Lavist and Misses Jane Gutbery, Virginia Smith and Jean De Wolf.

The committee on arrangements stated today that a report to the effect that the show is open only to members of the order of DeMolay has in some way gained circulation. This report is erroneous, the committee says, the general public being cordially invited to attend.

"No wonder we've never had any luck with chicks!"

Like thousands of others, these folks are amazed to see the difference when chicks are started this right way

OUR feed man took an hour today just to tell me some things about feeding baby chicks. White diarrhea, bowel trouble, leg weakness—all those troubles, he showed me, usually start with wrong feeding. To me, the real wonder now is that we used to raise any chicks at all. I didn't dream that this one way of starting chicks could make a difference in profits!"

When one batch of poor food can start the whole batch downhill—when future health and egg production is at stake, it is a careless poultryman who will start chicks on anything but Pratts Buttermilk Baby Chick Food—the original baby food for baby chicks!

Protein exactly right for correct growth. The solid equivalent of a pound of liquid buttermilk to every pound of Pratts. Fiber less than 4%. CENTRAL HIGH PUPILS REPEAT PLAY TONIGHT

Successful Production of "Daddy Long-Legs" Given by Junior Pupils

Before a capacity audience last night at the auditorium, Central Junior High School, a picked cast composed of students of the ninth grade presented the play, "Daddy Long-Legs" by Jean Webster, with success.

Miss Violet Doll as "Judy," the orphan who later marries her wealthy guardian, played her role with unusual ability. Playing opposite her was Dwight Bargar as Jervis Pendleton, the guardian, also an outstanding role.

The play was directed by Miss Isabelle Stump with the assistance of Miss Pauline Knepp, both teachers at the school. W. E. Orcutt, principal, acted as business manager and Kenneth McDaniel and Franklin Ruhl as stage managers.

The play will be repeated at 8 o'clock tonight at the auditorium.

Offer Musical Program

Instrumental music was furnished by the Central Junior High School Orchestra while the Central Junior High Male Glee Club, both organizations under the direction of Howard M. Temple, entertained with two vocal selections.

Supporting the leading roles were Robert Knauss as James McBride, a humorous role, Benita LeMasters as Mrs. Semple and Eulela Smith as Mrs. Lippet, character roles. Geraldine Allen as Miss Pritchard, Minerva McMurry as Mrs. Pendleton, Nadine Knachel as Julia Pendleton, Juanita Landon as Sallie McBride, Ivan O'Brien as Freddie Perkins, Kenneth McDaniel as Griggs, Lovell Hableman as Walters, Harry Sifritt as Cyrus Wyckoff, John Castner as Abner Parsons, Ruth Craven as Carrie, Hazel Millisor as the maid, and Dorothea McElroy, Jane Lusch, Ruth Stanley and Mildred George as orphans.

The costumes and stage furnishings and settings were especially attractive. The play was in four acts, the first in the dining room of an orphans' home, the second in Judy's college study, the third in the sitting room of a country home and the fourth in Jervis Pendleton's library.

CAR IS STOLEN

County Recorder Smith Finds Machine Gone from Parking Place

Police in Marion and surrounding cities are hunting today for a 1926 model Chrysler coupe owned by County Recorder Charles E. Smith, which was stolen last night from S. Main-st, in front of the Richman Clothing Co. store.

Mr. Smith reported the theft to the local police department shortly after 11 o'clock last night. He parked the machine on S. Main-st about 10 o'clock and found it gone an hour later, he stated. The police department immediately notified authorities in Mansfield, Bucyrus, Delaware and other nearby cities to watch for the car.

It carries license number 95-407.

SENTENCE INEZ PALMER TO MARYSVILLE TERM

McArthur Woman Pleads Guilty to Murdering Vinton County Man

McArthur, April 22—Inez Palmer, 24 today is awaiting removal to the Women's Reformatory at Marysville, to serve a life sentence, following her plea of guilty late Thursday to the first degree murder of William Stout, rich Vinton County farmer.

Arthur Stout, 33, son of William Stout, and common law husband of the woman, is serving a life sentence for the second degree murder of his stepmother, William Stout's wife.

The murders are said to have followed the objections of the elder Stouts to their son's companionship with the woman.

"POP" CONCERT IS TO BE GIVEN BY CANTO CLUB

Program Will Be Presented May 2 at Marion Star Auditorium

Plans are in progress for the "pop" concert to be presented by the Canto Club May 2, at the Star auditorium, it was announced today. The program will include three groups of selections by the club members and two by the Male Glee Club of Harding High School, directed by Howard M. Temple, supervisor of music in the public schools.

The presentation of a "pop" concert was instituted last year and is given with the purpose of encouraging musical inclinations in the young men of the city.

A feature of the program will be the singing of "A Song of Fellowship," Gaul, by members of the Canto Club.

Quartet to Sing

The Canto quartet, which includes John Lacey, W. C. Orcutt, L. H. Taylor and George Lusch, will be heard in a group of special numbers and Mr. Lacey, Mr. Taylor and Mr. Orcutt each in vocal solos. Mrs. Helen Zuck Lacey and Miss Mabel Baldauf will play the piano accompaniments.

The club members have also accepted an invitation to appear in concert in Mt. Gilead, Wednesday, April 27, the program to be sponsored by the Mt. Gilead Kiwanis Club.

In connection with the observance of National Music Week in Galion, the club will be heard in concert there Friday, May 6, the program to be under the auspices of the music department of the Galion High School. They will also present a program of selected vocal numbers at one session of the convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs to be held here May 3, 4, 5 and 6.

LACK OF FUNDS MAY HALT TRIAL UNTIL JULY 1

Judge in Ford-Sapiro Libel Suit Appeals for Government Funds

Detroit, April 22—An empty treasury probably will cause postponement of a new trial in the million dollar Ford-Sapiro libel suit until after next July 1, it was learned today.

Federal Judge Fred M. Raymond, who halted the first trial because a woman talked too much, was said to have wired an appeal to the department of justice for funds to continue the case at once. If the department fails to heed his request, the second trial will have to be postponed until after July 1 when judicial appropriations for the new fiscal year become available. This dearth of money in the federal courts was caused by the failure of the last congress to enact the second deficiency appropriation bill.

Continue Investigation

Agents for the department of justice meanwhile continued a searching investigation into the bribery plot charges, leveled at Mrs. Cora Hoffman, a woman juror, by attorneys for Henry Ford. The federal agents were said to have again questioned William Hoffman, husband of the juror, and J. "Kid" Miller who was charged with making an offer to Mrs. Hoffman. They carefully guarded all developments in the investigation and will summit their report to Judge Raymond in person. It was Mrs. Hoffman's comment on these charges that brought about the mistrial.

The court will convene again Saturday, April 30, to name a date for the second trial. At that time, counsel for Aaron Sapiro, who sued Ford for alleged libel, will ask for a new start at once.

"We will urge the earliest possible date for a new trial," said William Henry Gallagher, counsel for Sapiro. "We will insist that a date be set in early May."

Gallagher told of having suggested to Ford's attorneys that each side contribute to a fund to pay the jurors, so that the trial might proceed immediately. He said Ford's attorneys had rejected the plan.

Claim No Precedent

"A few thousands dollars would not bother Ford at all but it would mean a lot to us," Gallagher added. "Despite this hardship, we are willing to share half the cost in order to begin a new trial at once. Mr. Ford's attorneys said it wouldn't be wise."

The auto king's attorneys, led by Sen. James A. Reed, later explained that they believed such a plan illegal.

"There is no precedent for such an undertaking as for private litigants to finance their trial," said Senator Reed. "I don't believe the court can seriously consider it. The courts are not set up for private individuals to use to settle their disputes. The courts are created by the government of the people to administer justice through their own machinery. Such a suggestion is just as much bunk as the statement that the Ford defense had collapsed when we hadn't even put a single defense witness on the stand."

The shortage of funds however will halt the trial unless some special arrangement is made. It was learned incidentally that Judge Raymond has not yet been paid for his services this month and had to pay his own expenses. So far as the judiciary is concerned, the government is virtually "broke" and there appeared small likelihood of a new trial before July 1.

Jack Dempsey Must Declare Himself Soon or Get Out, Says Billy Gibson

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, April 22 — Jack Dempsey, the big hook and a hook to the jaw and to business—must declare on the heavyweight situation a period of two weeks the possible consequence read out of the party, to the views of Billy freely aired today.

"I didn't think Dempsey long right by our Nell and said as much or even more. Like an old fashioned father of an old fashioned girl, he wants to know whether Jack's intentions are strictly honorable also to speak.

"Dempsey must know, by this time, whether he can fight or not," quota Gib in a few, well chosen words, not in excess of ten thousand. "Why doesn't he declare himself, one way or the other? Frankly, I'm beginning to suspect that he doesn't intend to try a come back.

"Why, do you know that Rickard must have spent $500 in telegrams and long distance calls to Dempsey since the first of the year? I don't blame him. He has to know soon what his line up of fighters is going to be and make his plans accordingly. If Paulino can't fight Delaney, then it must be Dempsey or the winner of the Sharkey-Maloney fight but those sort of things can't be done over night.

Rickard Will Forget

They are big fights and have to be prepared for months in advance. The way I see it, if Dempsey doesn't come out in the clear in a couple of weeks, Rickard simply will have to forget him."

As far as that crack goes, the writer suspects that it may be a case of forgive but never forget. They need Dempsey for that $1,500,000 harvest they expect to reap again this fall. Hoosier, Williams professes to think otherwise. He says heavyweight championship fights have become like the world series, everyone can, no matter who is in them. This fortunately is one of those theories that you believe at your own risk.

Anyhow, Rickard himself will reach town before the passing of another day and perhaps he will have something to add to the general hilarity, besides the installment of $100,000 he owes Tunney. He will decide among other things whether the Madison Square Garden corporation will go to court about the boxing commission's ruling on the Paulino-Delaney fight, and if he does, the bet is right on the line that Dempsey is all washed up. Rickard would have little use for Delaney, except in a fight heavyweight title fight if Dempsey and Paulino were ready to go.

The impression here is that a Dempsey representative has been Rickard in the South during the promoter's vacation. A remainder from on what was said of anything that is passed by Rickard is known on the Pacific Coast, somebody has the other.

Meanwhile, the Sharkey-Maloney matter has been clarified to some extent by the withdrawal of Tom Gibbons, Boston promoter, from the scene. His claim on Maloney apparently was squared yesterday, leaving Walter Taylor, Cleveland, man, as the main impediment confronting the May 19 date. It seems that Jim the Penman signed with Walter, too.

However, this is another situation that is important or otherwise, according to Dempsey's whim. If Jack has assured Rickard of his return to the ring this summer, the promoter will not be greatly concerned about anything or anybody.

Ray Kremer Holds Reds to Four Hits While Pirates Win; Yanks Forge Ahead

Pittsburgh's Pitching Ace Looms as Buccaneers' One Best Bet To Win National League Pennant; Reds Take Firmer Hold on Last Place

NEW YORK, April 22—Ray Kremer, one of the Pirates' pitching staff, was going as Pittsburgh's one best bet to win the National League pennant by beating the Reds yesterday, the crack right-hander hung up his eighth straight victory of the season and enabled the Buccaneers to increase their lead over the other contenders. Kremer held the Reds to four hits after the first inning, he made the most of everything except recite. In addition, he won his own game with a home run off Eppa Jeppa Rixey, and the Reds took a firmer grip on eighth place.

The day was replete with good pitching. Ben Smith held Brooklyn to two hits. Alex Ferguson limited the Giants to four hits, and Murray and Braxton of the Senators let the Red Sox down with four bingles.

The Yankees, however, broke out in a mix each of extra base hits at the expense of Gray and Rommel and slaughtered the Athletics 13 to 6, gaining a clear title to first place. A homer by Lou Gehrig with two on put the game on ice, and Lazzeri later duplicated the feat for good measure.

Gehrig now leads the A. L. circuit sluggers with three homers, and Cy Williams tops the National Leaguers with four. Homers by Williams and Wright spoiled the Giants' hash yesterday, 4 to 2. The Giants got no hits off Alex Ferguson after the second inning and dropped from second place to fifth, while the Phils climbed to third.

According to the deductions of Rogers Hornsby, the noted stock broker, the Giants are due to win 14 straight games. In the flush of the Giants first victory on the opening day of the season, Hornsby predicted that the club would win 18 out of the next 22 games. Therefore the Giants must now cop 14 straight in order to uphold Mr. Hornsby's reputation as a prophet.

The Brooklyn Dodgers returned to normalcy and lost to the Braves, 5 to 0. Bob Smith fielded only tow hits, one of them being the illegitimate variety.

Johnny Tobin clouted a homer with the bases full against Washington, but the Red Sox played dead during the remaining eight frames and lost 7 to 4. Wingfield was no puzzle to the Nats.

Rain provided a vacation for the Indians, White Sox, Browns, Tigers, Cubs and Cardinals.

478,500 PERSONS ATTEND OPENERS

New York, April 22—The sixteen major league home opening games drew a total attendance of 478,500 this season, it was estimated today. The last two openers were played yesterday at Pittsburgh and Boston.

The 478,500 figure exceeds the 1926 opening mark of 440,000 by 38,500.

RECREATIONAL COMMISSION TO MEET TONIGHT

Discussion of "Glove" Proposal To Be Main Issue

The second meeting of the new recreational ball commission of Marion will meet at 7:30 tonight, in the Y. M. C. A., for the purpose of discussing a number of important problems facing the local soft ball association this season.

One of the most important proposals made at the first meeting concerned the use of gloves by all players who wished. It was held that many of those who took part in the games last year suffered severe injuries to their hands, several receiving broken fingers. The use of a glove would eliminate this condition, one member of commission declared.

The other side of the argument is that "it's part of the fun to see some body muff the ball with a glove, few of them will be muffed." That decision was rendered by another member of the commission last Tuesday night at the organization meeting.

The entire matter will be threshed out tonight, and if the proposed new rule goes through, an amendment of the constitution and by-laws of the association will be necessary.

Eligibility rules also probably will be discussed at the meeting tonight.

The next meeting of the board of control of the association after tonight will probably be called May 3 when schedules for the season will be drawn up and teams placed in their respective leagues. All teams must have their entry blanks in the possession of Secretary F. O. Rudolph of the commission before May 2.

BUCYRUS SHAWS START RECREATIONAL BALL

Many Former Basketball Stars on Team; Monnett on Mound

Having passed a successful cage season the Bucyrus Shaws group of youthful athletes have announced the organization of a recreational baseball team to open twilight play on the playgrounds diamond at Bucyrus today. The first opposition on the Shaws list is a strong squad from Upper Sandusky.

The proposed lineup for the Shaws in the opener will be Perrott and Monnett as catcher and moundsman respectively; McKinley, Copper and Baker on the sacks with Whetstone at short. Ward, Rein and Lehr will police the outfield.

The boys will start working up speed and accuracy on the North Sandusky avenue grounds this week in preparation for the opening recreational contest here this season.

CHANGE UNIFORMS

The uniforms of the St. Louis Cardinals have been changed somewhat as a result of the outcome of the last world's series. The bat and birds which once covered the front of the shirt are now much smaller and surrounded by the words "World's Champions," in a circle.

UP TO COXSWAIN

It has been said that a coxswain can easily lose a boat race. That is no exaggeration, for even minor errors of steering over the regatta course may mean the loss of two or three lengths. For the same reason, given two crews of approximately the same pace, a coxswain can be the winning factor.

ABOUT TRAVIS

Walter Travis, the first American to win a British amateur golf championship, is also the only man to win three North and South titles at Pinehurst.

SOCCER STARS

During the past few years many old English and Scottish soccer stars have found berths in the big elevens in Canada and some in the United States.

Because he has been hurling that spitter eighteen years and therefore stands as a living refutation of the theory that the moist delivery is a strain on the arm that shortens a pitcher's days.

Because he is one of the hardest working pitchers in the game—and one of the most willing. Which may or may not prove again that the way to success is through labor and lots of it.

Because he has just begun his first season as a member of the New York Giants.

And because, with an uncertain pitching staff around him he has a golden opportunity to pitch the Giants to a pennant with a list of some 20 victories for the season.

Constipation Bars You from social success

Abundant health is vital if you are to lead in social activities. And you cannot be healthy unless your bowels are healthy too.

Don't dread constipation. For permanent relief is to be had quickly and easily. A new and delightful corrective performs the three essential functions of relieving, cleansing and rebuilding. Without these there can be no cure.

Normal bowel movements are restored with overnight promptness. Natural methods are used, not harshly irritating ones. Then colon walls are cleansed. All the foul "crust" is melted away. Absolute freedom from irritation and strain gives abused muscles a chance to rebuild, to regain their strength.

This new-day corrective, Jam-O-Lax, performs these three vital functions definitely and surely. Nature is given a chance. Normal conditions are soon restored.

In Jam-O-Lax the corrective elements are blended with the finest of fruits and oils. It comes to you as a tasty jam—equally good by the spoonful or as a spread on crackers.

Delightful to take, positive in action, this triple function corrective is the answer of science to your demand for a corrective that will combat constipation.

Learn what this perfected corrective means to you and yours. Avail yourself of this chance at your druggist.

North Central Ohio League Tracksters Preparing for Various Meets This Year

WHILE Harding High trackmen will not enter the North Central Ohio League track and field meet that is scheduled for Mansfield's new athletic field during the forenoon of May 21 are intensely interested in the outcome. Marion fans also are interested in what various teams are doing in the N. C. O. League.

During the last three weeks it has developed that Mansfield High has a track and field team that will show the way for all. The boys in that vicinity have been practicing ever since basketball season ended and have already knocked off East High of Columbus in a dual meet. They have all the necessary facilities, including a splendid field and cinder track, and work with much more ease than any other team in the league.

They have an early start in other meets also, it was learned. The Mansfield crew has entered the Ohio Relays at the Stadium Saturday. The usual set of athletes are out for track and field events.

Hall, of football and basketball fame, and John Angle, will toss the heavy pill, mingle, and discus. Hall won every weight event from Columbus East a week ago. The relay team is composed of Frank McMullen, Earl McMullen, Brindles and Ballbaugh. In fact, this quartet have entered both the mile relay and the medley sprint relay at Ohio State Saturday. Brindles, Hyde, F. McMullen, and Stockwell are entered in the half mile sprint. Ritzler is the Mansfield sprinter.

While no names have been mentioned as the Ashland High squad it is said that that school is expected to present an up-to-date and flashy track and field outfit.

Ashland is also handicapped by lack of an adequate track. A circles straight away, however, is being built and will be completed soon.

Reports from other schools have not been forthcoming. It is doubtful whether or not Shelby will have a team, but Galion and Bucyrus should both turn out a good squad.

INCOME TAX DISCLOSES MINNESOTA MILLIONAIRES

Minneapolis, Minn, April 22—There are 86 millionaires in Minneapolis and these 86 paid more than $1,500,000 to the United States as income tax in 1926, according to figures made public by the internal revenue collector in St. Paul.

The number of millionaires in Minneapolis is slightly less than half the number of the entire state, the figures show. The state has 175. St. Paul, with 53, ranks second, Duluth has 19 and there are 17 scattered. The personal income tax which the 175 millionaires in the state will pay the government for 1926 is close to $3,000,000.

ITALIAN FILM INDUSTRY TO GET GOVERNMENT AID

Rome, April 22—Following the example of Britain, Italy has decided to protect her motion picture industry from foreign competition by rendering obligatory the production of a certain percentage of Italian films at every performance.

This will range from 10 to 15 per cent of the program, with power to increase the quota.

The picture market in Italy has been practically monopolized by American and German films in the past few years.

ENGLAND HAS 2,500,000 LICENSED RADIO FANS

London April 22—Nearly two and a half million persons are now licensed to receive broadcasting programs in England, according to an official announcement made by the post office authorities.

Notwithstanding the fact that a receiving license costs slightly over two dollars, this figure is an increase of nearly half a million over last year.

Nearly five thousand blind persons receive a free license.

Oatmeal

the rich source of so much children need

A bowl of Mother's Oats with milk makes a rich contribution to children's development. Not just energy—not just the muscle-and-tissue building element called protein.

But minerals, too.
And vitamins.
And the tender oat-bran.

These too-often-neglected factors are highly important, according to modern discoveries in nutrition. They are necessary for normal growth in children—which usually means normal sleep, normal play, and normal progress at school.

And for real health in grown-ups.

Mother's Oats is a natural whole-grain food; finely and evenly milled by careful millers. You can count on it always to cook up smooth and even, and you will love its rich flavor. Two kinds, Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes) and the kind you have always known. Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, redeemable for premiums, silverware, toys, etc.

HEALTH

for the children's table

FLAVOR is so important in a child's food. Little appetites are delicate and easily jaded. That is why children often refuse to eat the nourishing foods they need.

Post's Wheat Meal brings them the health of whole wheat in the form of a delicious new cereal—a convenient cereal that cooks, ready-to-eat, in two and a half minutes.

Let your children try Post's Wheat Meal tomorrow morning. Watch their eyes sparkle as they taste that delicious flavor. Watch the spoons delve to the very bottom of the bowl. Post's Wheat Meal is made from whole wheat, the health grain. It cooks up golden as the wheat berry itself.

It contains, when served with milk or cream: vitamins for growth; proteins for body building; minerals for teeth and bone; carbohydrates for energy; and bran for regularity.

Order Post's Wheat Meal from your grocer today. It is the new food triumph of the Post Health Kitchens at Battle Creek.

Her most important roles to date have been in "The Love Thief," with Norman Kerry and in "Fast and Furious," in which Barbara suffered a broken arm and Reginald Denny was afflicted with appendicitis. She now is playing in "The Prairie King."

One of the most brilliant and logical ideas ever formulated in filmdom for the encouragement of talent and promotion of young players to stardom is to be put into execution by Paramount. Under this plan there are four or five of Hollywood's aspirants to screen fame who will be led along the paths of stardom under the sympathetic guidance and attention of directors and seasoned players. Names of the lucky ones will be announced later.

In order to carry out this plan to the best results, says Jesse L. Lasky, vice president of Paramount, all the directors in the Paramount organization will be urged to watch the junior stars at work. They will also be requested to see all of the pictures in which the youngsters appear, so as to give them preferred consideration in the casting of future pictures. Stars and feature players will be asked to advise them.

FOREIGN MEDICAL MEN STUDY BRITISH HEALTH

London, April 22—Medical officers of eleven countries, who have been studying British methods of ensuring public health in a three weeks' countrywide tour, are enthusiastic about the "healthy English girl."

"Your girls are wonderful," says Dr. Jonas Slupas, the Lithuanian representative. They have undoubtedly gained a standard of physical fitness to be found nowhere else in the world. I have been impressed with their vigor. They are so much more energetic than the men, and are always smiling cheerfully. I have not seen a dull looking girl during my stay."

60,000,000 EUROPEANS LISTED AS RADIO FANS

Vienna, April 22—An Austrian statistician has figured out that the radio gives entertainment every day to about 60,000,000 Europeans.

Herr Mittlacher who arrived at this conclusion declares that the Balkans states are rapidly outstriding Western Europe in the use of the radio. That is on a proportional basis, for there are not as many people in Eastern Europe.

He gives the official number of radio subscribers in England as 2,130,000; Germany 1,337,000; France, 960,000; Austria, 347,000; Hungary, 58,000; Sweden, 238,000; Denmark, 114,000; and Switzerland, 67,000. The countries not accounted for would add 1,500,000 more.

USE BASTINADO UNDER NEW TURKISH RULES

Constantinople, April 22—Turkish soldiers who refuse to carry out an order given by a corporal or a sergeant during the period of mobilization will henceforth be liable to 40 to 80 strokes with the bastinado. During peace time the punishment will be reduced to 10 to 20 strokes.

These provisions are contained in a new military law for the Turkish army, which has been ratified by the Council of Ministers and placed on the table of the Grand National Assembly.

Officers who refuse to obey an order to advance against the enemy will be liable to death by hanging.

-o- The New Book -o-

BY FRANCES JENNINGS

AMONG the interesting and noteworthy new books of a religious nature is Donn Byrne's "Brother Saul," published this month by The Century Co. "Brother Saul" is the story of the Apostle Paul, colorfully and precisely written by a master in the art of fiction.

From Saul's petulant boyhood with his wealthy and thoroughly Roman parents, Byrne minutely follows his life to its end. As a boy Saul had wanted to become a Roman sailor but had been forced to enter the priesthood instead as his health would not permit the hardships to be borne at sea.

After a brilliant career as a student Saul became a member of the great tribunal, and as the youngest member of that body was appointed to quell heresy, surpress the Christianity gradually gaining a hold in the territory.

With all the fervor he later applied to his work for Christ, he began a scourge of Christianity which continued until the day when the vision came to him in the desert. Thenceforth his bound less energy served the Christ, Whom not many years before he had ridiculed, detested and Whose work he had attempted to obliterate. Suffering shipwreck, the terror of prison, the loss of friendship, all discomforts of life and even the fear of death itself he traveled from Rome to Jerusalem carrying the message of Christ brought to him through a vision.

Such was the life of Saul, as told in the most powerful story Bryune has yet produced.

"BROTHER SAUL" is not entirely of a religious nature but would doubtless carry greatest appeal for spiritually minded people, those who are familiar with or interested in the Bible and the lives of Biblical characters. With this in mind, publishers of the book sent advance copies to 2,000 eminent American clergymen for their approval.

Although written in a ponderous, heavy style, "Brother Saul" can be considered a vivid and realistic portrayal of one of the well-known characters of the Bible. Saul is pictured as human, not modern, but as human as the people of today, having the same trials, difficulties and temptations as one is subject to in the present age. The storybook portrayal of Bible characters as gods and goddesses or at least as myths is lacking in Byrne's book, they are presented as people of today living in totally different circumstances.

Often times Byrne is prone to lose his character in almost endless arguments on religion, typical no doubt of that ancient time in which they lived, when religion was the predominating influence, as well as the most questioned and discussed topic of the day.

Byrne places much emphasis on description . . . describing the character, atmosphere and material appearance of the old cities of the Holy Land, resplendent with the magnificent buildings, and the colorful garb of the citizenry.

Two other powerful novels by the same author are "Hangman's House" and "Nesser Marco Polo".

"JOYOUS CONSPIRATOR" BY GEORGE GIBBS

For light reading an entertaining new novel is "The Joyous Conspirator" by George Gibbs, a novel typical of the many books of the fiction class being published wholesale today.

"The Joyous Conspirator", as the title might suggest, is written primarily with the purpose of entertaining, with little regard to style or technique.

It is the story of an American heiress, fresh from a convent and anxious to taste of life, who, in company with a staid but patient and perserving aunt journeys abroad, stopping in Paris as a fitting city in which to search for adventure and experience life. There she is involved in a romantic career with two young men of antagonistic personalities, the one an English Lord representing himself as a commoner, the other an anarchist.

With the coincidence of a fairy tale the three later meet in a small English village, where the English Lord lives in a beautiful old castle and where the American heiress stops, unknowingly, to visit this same famed castle of Elizabethan, England. The anarchist is there for the purpose of combleting a strike in the very mines controlled by his English rival.

In rapid succession the heroine saves the Englishman from the mines as they are about to be bombed by strikers, the anarchist saves the heroine from blackmail, gallantly dying in the attempt, and the heroine does the only thing left to do under the circumstances . . . marries the one remaining hero introduced into the story . . . the Englishman.

Although not the most wholesome reading, Gibbs can be given credit for creating a novel of suspense, a novel in which the characters are the victims of almost fairytale plotting and intrigue. Other of his books, of a similar nature, are "The Love of Mademoiselle," "The Bolted Door,"and "The Yellow Dove."

MOST POPULAR THIS WEEK

Of the new books, those which proved most popular this week were fiction, "Elmer Gantry" by Sinclair Lewis, "The Old Countess" by Anne Douglas Sedgwick, "Black April", by Julia Peterkin, "Doomsday" by Warwick Deeping, "Young Anarchy" by Philip Gibbs, and "Tomorrow Morning" by Anne Parrish; and nonfiction, "Revolt in the Desert" by T. E. Lawrence, "Napoleon" by Emil Ludwig, and "Everything and Anything" by Dorothy Aldis.

A biography of Uncle Joe Cannon, written at this own request by his secretary, L. W. Busbey, will be published early in the fall by the Henry Holt and Co.

Among the amusing anecdotes of American politics related in the book is this one, for which Clinton Brainerd vouches. When a new member of the House asked Uncle Joe if he approved of his maiden speech, Uncle Joe shifted his cigar to the other side of his mouth and answered, 'You said many good things, and many new things." "Thank you, Mr. Speaker," the new member said. "But," continued Uncle Joe, "the good things were not new and the new things weren't good."

SINCLAIR LEWIS ON VACATION

SINCLAIR LEWIS, whose new novel, "Elmer Gantry" has excited so much comment in this country, is enjoying a vacation in France, where this summer he expects to begin his next novel.

In defense of the so-called redoubtable Elmer Gantry Mr. Lewis said that he did not expect every one to agree with every novel he wrote, that he had spent over a year gathering material and that he could take any one to certain churches and institutions and prove to them that the installment of bowling alleys, motion picture projectors, swimming pools and other recreational features have become an integral part of the teaching of religion in certain sections of the United States.

May 14 the Cosmopolitan Book Corporation will publish "Overtaken" by Lawrence Rising, the story of the career of an amazing woman. Mr. Rising is also the author of "She Who Was Helena Cass" and "Proud Flesh."

Robert Browning's widely-read poem, "The Ring and the Book" has been newly dramatized by the popular modern dramatist, Arthur Goodrich. In the words of one reviewer, the old seventeenth century tale is made 'to seem as human and natural as if it had happened but yesterday."

WRITTEN DURING AUTHOR'S WANDERINGS

THE greater part of S. Andrew Wood's new novel, "The Flower of Desire" was written during his wanderings in Corsica and Capri Islands where yet the savage vendetta persists among peasants. The "vendetta," a war of vengeance between two families is carried on as long as the families exist, a death meriting a death. Mr. Wood, while engaged in writing the novel there, was taken for a disguised gendarme and barely escaped with his life. His novel was published by the E. P. Dutton and Co. April 4.

To supplement his earlier eight-volume "History of the People of the United States from the Revolution to the Civil War," John Buch McMaster has produced a new volume, "A History of the People of the United States During Lincoln's Administration," recently published by Appleton.

Material for the latter book was gathered from old papers and documents of that time, in keeping with Dr. McMaster's idea that newspapers, letters, magazines, etc., best reflect the life of everyday people.

CAMERON ROGERS WRITES BIOGRAPHY

CAMERON ROGERS, whose biography of Walt Whitman, "The Magnificent Idler," was published last year, has just completed a biography of Col. Bob Ingersoll, well-known agnostic. The book was published April 1 by Doubleday, Page and Co. under the title, "Colonel Bob Ingersoll."

Rogers tells of Ingersoll's early life, his political career as lawyer and orator. Perhaps most interesting of all is his discussion of Ingersoll's earlier life during the time when he was reared in a strict Presbyterian family which believed laughter was a sin, and that Hell was the hereafter of all save the few redeemed.

Several copies of Natalie Sumner Lincoln's mystery novel, "P. P. C." with its bright yellow jacket and cryptic letters shone vividly in the window of a big book shop in Washington, where Miss Lincoln lives, last St. Patrick day, in full view of the Sons of Erin.

Three of the same, who were on parade, dropped out of line, strode into the store and demanded the orange insult to the Irish nationality be removed. When a clerk explained something of the book and said it would spoil the story to reveal what the initials of the title meant, he sold three copies of the book—wrapped in green paper.

If a young man wants to advance in society he will dance with as many of the matrons at the ball as with the young girls.

SEEK KIN OF ABANDONED BABE

"What if the bogs had found him?" gasped Mrs. Albert Klein, Sioux Center, Iowa, when she found this cherubic youngster in a basket in the bushes near her home one rainy morning. The child was wearing expensive garments when found and a supply of milk and two changes of clothes were in the basket. Several families have offered to adopt the boy who is five or six months old.

ADAM KRUG DIES WEEK AFTER WIFE IS TAKE

One of Ohios' Oldest Odd Fellows Stricken; Funeral To Be Saturday

Adam Krug, 81, one of the oldest members of the Ohio Odd Fellows Lodge died at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Newby, 126 Uhler-av. at 12:45 o'clock yesterday, just one week after his wife, Mrs. Ellen Simpson Krug, 79, passed away. Senility was given as the cause of his death. He had been ill since July.

Mr. Krug was born in Chillicothe, Jan. 19, 1846, and was the son of Catherine and Casper Krug, both originally from Germany. His marriage to Ellen Simpson Krug was solemnized in Hillsboro, their former home, in 1873. He was a member of Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church and is the oldest member of the I. O. Of F. Lodge of Hillsboro as well as one of the oldest members of that lodge in the state. He came to Marion in 1921.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. John M. Newby, at home; one sister, Mrs. Daniel Laycock, and two brothers, Joseph and Casper Krug, all of Chillicothe. One granddaughter, Miss Dorothy Ellen Newby, at home, also survives.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home, 126 Uhler-av, in charge of Rev. Alfred W. Swan, pastor of Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Marion Cemetery.

ACCIDENT PROBE LEADS 4 TO STILL, MASH, WHISK

Columbus, April 22—When police went to the home of William Swartz, 42, to investigate a minor automobile accident in which Swartz had figured they found a 50-gallon still, a quantity of mash and six gallons of whisky, according to charges filed against Swartz and two other men found at his home.

APPROVE MORATORIUM TO AID JAP FINANCES

Will Run 21 Days, All Banks in Empire Being Closed

Tokyo, April 22—Fighting financial panic, the privy council approved this afternoon a 21-day moratorium, beginning Monday for all banks in the empire.

Deposits can be withdrawn only to meet government debts, labor payrolls and personal expenses under 500 yen. Meanwhile all banks are closed.

The council approved also the calling of an extraordinary session of the Japanese Diet, or parliament, to approve use of government funds in relieving the crisis. The diet cannot legally convene before May 4.

FAMOUS CHEF OF OHIO HOTEL NOW PRAISES KONJOLA

Astounded When the New Compound Quickly Ends Agony of His Rheumatism

Another remarkable report has been received which shows more clearly than ever the unusual value of this celebrated new medical preparation, Konjola, which the Konjola Man is introducing to large crowds of men and women daily at the Stump Pharmacy, 121 South Main St., Marion, the busiest downtown section of the city.

"CHEF" SADACCA

The report referred to was issued by Mr. Charles Sadacca, who lives at 1 E. McMicken Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio who gained fame because of his unmistakable ability at one of Cincinnati great hotels. Mr. Sadacca stated that this surprising Konjola medicine so completely overpowered his terrible rheumatic suffering that he wants everybody to know about it. He gave a detailed statement of the work of Konjola in his case and also offered his photograph for publication.

Sorrow was caused thousands of people at Cincinnati and throughout the country recently when it was announced that "Chef" Sadacca would have to give up work because of rheumatism. To these many people his passing was like the going of an entire institution. But right at that time, "Chef" Sadacca was induced by a friend to try Konjola, and he began taking it as directed.

"And I will say," declared this famous chef, "I have been able to continue with my work only because of the positively amazing relief Konjola gave me from my terrible rheumatic troubles. In making my ice cream creations, it is necessary for me to work in a damp room, walking about in salt water for hours. This finally had its effect on me. I began having an occasional twinge of rheumatism and finally my limbs and arms and joints of my knees and elbows pained me so intensely I could hardly go into the damp room. I was on the verge of giving up my work and then a friend insisted that I try Konjola. To my delight and surprise the medicine seemed to reach my case at once. It seemed that I could feel the Konjola going all through my system every time I took a dose and after taking it just a short time, the rheumatism was not nearly so bad. I kept on taking Konjola and the absolute truth is that I am now entirely relieved free of all aches and pains."

The Konjola is not claimed to be a cure-all, but it is a combination of two different roots, herbs, leaves, etc., blended with other scientifically prepared medical ingredients, making a scientific preparation that is bringing surprising relief in many seemingly hopeless cases.

The Konjola Man is at the Stump Pharmacy, 121 South Main St., (Marion's busiest downtown section and the easiest to get to) where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free Samples given.—Adv.

Peter's Adventures

A Story for Boys and Girls

BY FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

WHEN THIEF MEETS THIEF

Mr. Tamias was much delighted with Peter's praise.

"Thanks, little Two-Legs," said he. "You have only spoken the truth. I have a well-filled larder. I am glad you saw it with your own eyes, however. You might have thought I was boasting when I told you about it a while ago. There is one great trouble though in being a hard worker."

"What is that, Chipmunk?" asked the Boy.

"Well, all the lazy fellows try to steal the fruits of your labor. Do you know I have the worst time trying to protect my stores! I hate to own it, but there are a lot of sneak-thieves in the Squirrel family. Now, there is Gray Squirrel, for instance. He is a fine fellow in many ways. But you can't trust him. No, sirree! Not out of your sight! He will pretend to be your best friend and will make a dreadful fuss over you when you meet, but just let your back be turned and he will ferret out your hidding place, and when you return from your morning's hunt you will not find a nut in all that pile you left in the "cubby."

"I PAY THE ROBBER BACK IN HIS OWN COIN"

"Don't you bring your finds right down into your burrow as soon as you gather them?" Peter was puzzled. "What do you mean by your hiding places? Where are they?

"Oh, everywhere," answered Chipmunk carelessly. "I have so many nooks and corners for tucking things into that I can't count them. Some are in trees, others between little crevices in the rocks, more here and there along the old rail fence. You see, this is the reason I need them: When I go 'gathering' I often wander far from home. Of course, I can only carry so many nuts and berries in my cheeks at once, and if, when I have packed my pouches as full as I can I should have to come way back home to put them in the pantry, I should waste too much time. So wherever I happen to be I pick out a 'cubby' in rock or tree or fence, and there I tuck all the treasures I find thereabouts. When I am ready I bring them home, making several trips to be sure, but as I have my mind on my business and don't have to worry about one of my neighbors picking up the choice bits while I am off the hunting grounds, I don't mind that. Only, as I said before, sometimes Gray Squirrel or Red Squirrel, or one of the other boys, discover my cubby holes and in my absence sneak in and make off with the fruit I have gathered. When I return I find nothing there but bad nuts or shucks. Then how mad I am! You ought to hear me scold him when we meet."

"It is a shame! I don't blame you for being furious after having a trick like that played upon you," declared Peter. "You wouldn't do such a mean thing to one of your friends, would you?"

Chipmunk made no answer. The Boy repeated his question. Chipmunk made a queer sound. Could it be he was chuckling? He was!

"I can not tell a lie, Boy," said he. "I would have and I have, many and many's the time. You see, when I find my stores stolen I can think of nothing else but paying back in his own coin the fellow that did it. I wait my chance, and when the robber is off his guard, thinking I've forgotten, I slip into his pantry and carry off his food to my own. Then he comes over to my burrow and scolds me. I am afraid I am a sneak thief, too. But life would be dreadfully tiresome if we Squirrels had nothing to chatter about. We never keep mad at each other for long. How could we, when each of us is as naughty as the other?"

Next: "Caught in the Act."

Trying to live up to a grand reputation spoils a good deal of fun.

THE GUMPS — HER KID BROTHER — BY SIDNEY SMITH

I CAN'T HARDLY WAIT - THE MERE THOUGHT OF SEEING HIM AGAIN HAS MADE ME AS EXCITED AND HAPPY AS A LITTLE GIRL AT HER FIRST PARTY - WHEN I RECEIVED HIS TELEGRAM SAYING HE WOULD ARRIVE TODAY I ALMOST SWOONED WITH JOY - HENRIETTA!
OH, GEORGE, DARLING - YOU DON'T KNOW HOW GOOD IT MAKES ME FEEL TO SEE MY HANDSOME YOUNG BROTHER AGAIN - THE FIRST THING YOU MUST DO IS PROMISE ME THAT YOU AND YOUR BEAUTIFUL YOUNG WIFE SHALL REMAIN FOR A NICE LONG WSIT -
GEORGE HAS WRITTEN SO MANY NICE THINGS ABOUT HIS MARVELOUS WIFE - I FEEL AS THOUGH WE WERE ALREADY TWO GOOD FRIENDS - THAT I KNOW WE ARE GOING TO BE - MY HUSBAND WAS NEVER DONE SINGING THE PRAISE OF HIS BEAUTIFUL SISTER, HENRIETTA - NOW I FEEL AS THOUGH I HAD KNOWN YOU ALWAYS - SIDNEY SMITH

If Youth But Knew

BY HUDSON MAXIM,

Inventor and Mechanical Engineer

KNOWLEDGE is power. If youth but knew, that knowledge would be an amazing power!

As human nature is constituted, inexperienced youth must have its way, and stagger and stumble over the path of experience.

Nearly all the great men of history have been students at the school of hard knocks of experience. Goethe was the most notable example of a great man who in his youth had been provided every manner of helpfulness of the highest order, but Goethe was big-minded enough to stand it without being spoiled.

The best resolution that any young fellow can make is that he will direct his strength and abilities always toward what he deems of the highest and most self-helpful purpose, and never to depart or swerve in the least from this resolution.

When I was a young fellow attending Kent's Hill Academy in Maine, I wrote the following bit of verse intended to embody my best resolutions, and I still think it embodies even my present best resolutions:

First, moderation and restraint aim to perfection in:
Patience and caution cultivate with rigid discipline.
Restrain all passions, impulses, and weigh all matters well—
Weigh the motive, act and end, make every action tell.
Be cautious, watchful, thoughts control; think well to act as wise;
Let every step succeed a thought; let thoughts succeed the eyes.

CITY SCHOOLS OFFER TWO MUSIC PROGRAMS

Annual Harding High Concert May 13 and Grade School Cantata May 20

Musical activities in the city schools will be brought to a close this year with two programs to be presented during May, according to announcement made by Howard M. Temple, city music supervisor today. The annual concert presented by students of Harding High School will be given at the Harding Park pavilion Friday night May 13. A cantata, "The Childhood of Hiawatha," in which pupils of the grade schools will take part, will be presented May 20 at the pavilion.

The high school concert will include numbers by a 90 piece orchestra, and selections by a chorus of 340 voices as well as numbers by the boys' and girls' glee clubs, a mixed chorus and the high school band. All musical organizations taking part are from the high school.

The cantata will include pupils from the various grade schools, this being the first year younger students have been permitted in a production of a musical nature. Miss Marian McNeal will assist Mr. Temple and play the piano accompaniments.

NOTICE TO NON-RESIDENTS BY COUNCIL

Notice to non-resident owners of property abutting on West Center street between the Hocking Valley Railroad and the west side of Main street: W. B. LEGAL NOTICE

State of Ohio, Marion County, ss:, In the Probate Court, No. 9361.

Rollin H. Thompson, administrator of the estate of Louisa C. Thompson, deceased, Plaintiff, vs.

Wilhelmena Weyand, et al., Defendants.

Wilhelmena Weyand, who resides in Seattle, Washington; Beatrice V. Martin and Raymond H. Martin, who reside at 5010 Eighth Avenue, N. E., Seattle, Washington; Maud Gruber and Martin J. Gruber, who reside at Rainier, Washington; George W. Thompson and Irene Thompson, who reside at Burlingame, California, will take notice that Rollin H. Thompson, administrator of the estate of Louisa C. Thompson, deceased, on the 3rd day of December, 1926, filed his petition in the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio, alleging that the personal estate of said decedent is insufficient to pay her debts and the charges of administering her estate, and that the said Louisa C. Thompson died seized in fee simple of the following described real estate:

Situate in the County of Marion and State of Ohio, to-wit: The east half of the northeast quarter and the east half of the southeast quarter of Section twenty-six (26), one hundred and sixty (160) acres, more or less.

Also, the west half of the west half of the southeast quarter of Section twenty-five (25), forty (40) acres, more or less.

Also, the west half of the west half of the southwest quarter of Section twenty-five (25), forty (40) acres more or less; in all two hundred and forty (240) acres, more or less, and all in Township four (4), South Range fourteen (14) East, and in Salt Rock Township.

Also, the undivided one-ninth (1-9) interest in the following described real estate:

Situated in the County of Marion, in the State of Ohio, and in the village (now city) of Marion, and bounded and described as follows: Being part of section twenty-two (22), beginning at a stake in the south line of East Center Street about fifty-eight and one-half (58½) feet east of a stone at intersection of said south line with the west line of land deeded by H. S. Lutz and Carrie A. Gailey to J. S. Reed and H. True; thence eastward along the south line of Center Street one hundred (100) feet to the northwest corner of J. J. Hane's land; thence southward along said J. J. Hane's west line two hundred and twenty-nine (229) feet to a stake; thence westward parallel with the south line of Center Street one hundred (100) feet to a stake; thence northward two hundred and twenty-nine (229) feet to the place of beginning, excepting ten (10) feet off of the west side thereof.

The prayer of the petition is that said property be sold to pay the debts and charges of said estate.

The said Wilhelmena Weyand, Beatrice V. Martin and Raymond H. Martin, Maud Gruber and Martin J. Gruber, George W. Thompson and Irene Thompson are hereby notified that they have been made parties defendant to said petition, and that they are required to answer the same on or before the 6th day of June, 1927.

OFFICIALS TO INSPECT STREETS IN COLUMBUS

Paving Composition Recommended for Use Here Will Be Investigated

City Engineer T. S. Cathers, Service Director O. A. Benedict and Safety Director W. B. Strayer are planning a trip to Columbus, Tuesday, for the purpose of inspecting several streets paved with Scioto rock asphalt, a material which has been recommended for use in this city.

Scioto rock asphalt is a manufactured product suitable for either street repairs or new paving construction and has been used successfully in a large number of cities, it is reported. The pavings in Columbus, laid about four years ago, are said to be in excellent condition despite the fact that they have been subjected to unusually heavy traffic.

The two principal ingredients of the paving composition are pure Trinidad pitch lake asphalt and rock which is quarried near Columbus.

MARION WOMAN LEARNS OF DEATH OF BROTHER

Mrs. Isabelle Lyday, 661 Sugar-st, received a message last night informing her that her brother, Joseph Chaffin, 75, of Harrisburg, O., died yesterday morning in a Columbus hospital following an operation for cancer. Mrs. Lyday will attend the funeral services, which will be held at Harrisburg Saturday morning, followed by burial at Mt. Sterling.

HOLD THEORY THAT BOOZE WAS LEFT FOR OWNER

Deputies in the office of Sheriff James A. Deal today still were working on the theory that 20 bottles of corn liquor found along the Hillman-Ford-Rd Wednesday afternoon was left there temporarily for the owner.

So far no clews have been found as to the identity of the person to whom the contraband goods was intended.

SHARP REACTIONS OCCUR IN SPECULATIVE GROUP

Heavy Selling by Professionals Forces Liquidation by Outside Traders

MARKETS AT A GLANCE:

Railroad stocks, firm; industrial stocks, irregular; domestic bonds, steady; foreign bonds, irregular; call money, 4 per cent; grain, steady; copper, steady; oil, weak; cotton, reactionary; rubber, firm; sugar, firm; pig iron, firm; foreign exchange, strong.

New York, April 22—Sharp reactions occurred today in prices of the active speculative stocks in all groups as a result of the heavy selling of stocks by the professionals, and forced liquidation by outside traders.

In the absence of special developments in trade and industry, a moderate shrinking of the volume of forward orders in some important lines, and the renewed calling of loans by the Wall Street banks, the bears opened up a wide attack on stock values and succeeded in forcing in considerable volume of liquidation at lower price levels. In the commission houses it was said that stop-loss orders had been uncovered within two or three points of yesterday's close.

The foreign exchange and foreign bond markets were upset by the announcement of the Japanese moratorium, but the chief reactions were chiefly in the Japanese industrial, utility and municipal bonds recently floated in this market. Italian Lira rose to a new high level and the British sterling was firm. Call money ruled at 4 per cent, with some shrinking in the supply of funds.

After being forced downward a few points on profit taking, General Motors resumed the aggressive leadership of the rally in prices. Reports that the April production schedules were running far ahead of early forecasts and that demand for cars was unprecedented stimulated active buying of the stock on a rising market. Dupont, one of the largest holders of General Motors, made a corresponding advance.

NOTICE OF SALE OF SCHOOL BONDS

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Board of Education of the Claridon Township Rural School District, Marion County, Ohio, in the centralized school house of said school district, until twelve o'clock noon, Central Standard Time, on Thursday, May 5, 1927, for the purchase of forty (40) Claridon Township Rural School District Bonds, in the aggregate sum of $40,000.00. Said bonds shall be numbered from one (1) to forty (40) both inclusive. Each bond shall be in the amount of $1,000.00, and shall bear date of March 1, 1927.

All of said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of four and three quarters per cent (4¾%) per annum, payable semi-annually, to-wit, on the first day of March and the first day of September of each and every year said bonds are to run, which interest shall be evidenced by coupons duly attached. Said bonds are issued for the purpose of providing funds to enlarge the school house in Claridon Township Rural School District, and furnish same, and are issued in anticipation of the collection of a tax on all the taxable property within said District, sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds, when the same falls due, and sufficient to create and maintain a sinking fund for the final redemption of said bonds at maturity.

Said bonds are issued under authority of the General Laws of the State of Ohio, and particularly Sections 7625, 7626, 7627 and 7628 of the General Code of Ohio, and pursuant to the proceedings had in respect to said indebtedness, and especially a certain resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the Claridon Township Rural School District, on the 3rd day of January, A. D. 1926, providing for this bond issue.

All bids must be accompanied by cash or certified check on some solvent bank, in the sum of $100.00, payable to E. A. Miller, Clerk of said Board of Education, for the benefit of said School District, upon the condition that if the bid be accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for the bonds as above set forth within ten days from the time of the award, said check to be retained by said Board of Education if said conditions be not fulfilled, but should any bid be rejected, the accompanying cash or check shall be immediately returned to the bidder.

Said bonds will be sold the highest bidder, but for not less than par value and accrued interest. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Bids should be sealed and endorsed "Bids for Claridon Township Rural School District Bonds," and addressed to E. A. Miller, Clerk of said Board, whose address is R. F. D. No. 2, Caledonia, Ohio.

The Board of Education of Claridon Township Rural School District.
By E. A. MILLER, Clerk.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Marion markets and stores today were getting in new shipments of various fruits and vegetables, in preparation for the usual Saturday sales.

Strawberries, the most changeable in price of all fruits at present, were selling at 30 cents a quart today and will probably be priced the same Saturday. An abundant supply was on hand today in many stores.

Cabbage, leaf lettuce, and head lettuce held a prominent place on local vegetable counters. No change in price was noted. Cabbage sold at four cents a pound, leaf lettuce retailed at 30 cents a pound, and head lettuce sold at 15 cents.

Several stores received a large supply of pineapples today but no change was recorded in price. Forty cents each was the general retail mark.

Meats and provisions remained unchanged in quotations today although special Saturday prices will prevail tomorrow.

Eggs sold at 25 and 28 cents a dozen.

CORNS

Instant Relief

Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads stop all pain quicker than any other known method. Takes but a minute to quiet the worst corn. Healing starts at once. When the corn is gone it never comes back. If new shoes make the spot "touchy" again, a Zino-pad stops it instantly. That's because Zino-pads remove the cause—pressing and rubbing of shoes.

Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads are made of soft, antiseptic, protecting. At all druggists and shoe dealers.

Simple Home Recipe For Bad Stomach Gives Swift Relief

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles—Gas, Soureness, Pain or Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this good advice.

Artificial digestants and starvation diets are seldom needed. Within reason, most folks may eat what they like, if they will keep their stomach free from souring acids that hinder or paralyze the work of digestion. And the best and easiest way to do this is to follow every meal with 3 or 4 tablets of Bisurated Magnesia—a pleasant, harmless form of Magnesia that swiftly neutralizes acidity and keeps your stomach sweet and clean.

A few days' trial of Bisurated Magnesia tablets, which any good druggist can supply at trifling cost, should quickly convince you that fully 90% of ordinary stomach distress is absolutely unnecessary! Try Bisurated Magnesia tablets today!—Adv.

Marion Musicians to Appear Before Federation Meet Here

LOCAL ARTISTS TO SING, PLAY FOR CONVENTION

Number of Presentations Arranged by Members of City Clubs

Marion vocalists and musicians will be heard in a number of delightful presentations during the thirty first annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs at which Marion clubwomen will be hostesses the first week in May. Music for the convention has been arranged by Mrs. Harold K. Mouser and Mrs. B. D. Osborn, music chairmen of the Marion County Federation, under the general direction of Mrs. C. S. Baxter, of Lima, music chairman for the state organization. Out-of-town talent also will be heard during the convention.

Local talent will include members of the Lecture-Recital Club, Canto Club, pupils from local schools, Mrs. Malcolm Strelitz, Miss Ruth Chilcote, of Mt. Gilead, harpist, Miss Elizabeth Wottring of Prospect, and Morris Sager, of Cleveland Institute of Music. On the opening night of the convention a chorus of 350 school children from the first to the sixth grades, will present selections from the cantata, "Childhood of Hiawatha," under the direction of Howard M. Temple, with Miss Marian McNeil as accompanist. The numbers will include "By the Shore of Gitche Gumee," and girls' two-part chorus, "Minne-wawa, Said the Pine Trees," boys union chorus "Once a Warrior, Very Angry," and the final chorus, "The Banquet."

Lecture-Recital Program

Members of the Lecture-Recital Club will close the session Tuesday night with a charming number, "The Legend of the Dandelion." They will be assisted by Miss Ruth Basden, a very accomplished and well known soprano of Columbus, and Mrs. Florence Rutherford, one of the city's talented and favorite soloists. Miss Helen Bever, also one of Marion's favorite musicians, will play the accompaniments. The number will be presented under the able direction of Mrs. Maude Machetanz, of Kenton. The splendid success and progress of the club this year reflects no small amount of credit to Mrs. Machetanz, who is regarded as one of the outstanding directors in the state. Her successes include the conducting of the prize-winning chorus in various cities, and she is known throughout the state as a successful teacher of the Fletcher-Kopp method for children.

Mrs. Harry T. Williams will be heard in an organ number, "Toccata," by Bartlett. Mrs. Williams is a talented organist and her progress has been noted with interest by her many friends. She is a student with Arthur Krott of Cleveland.

Wednesday Night Events

Wednesday night members of the club will open the program with "Seraphic Song," Rubenstein, paraphrazed by Samuel Richards Gaines assisted by Mrs. Florence Rutherford, soprano, Miss Ruth Chilcote, Mt. Gilead harpist, Mrs. Harry T. Williams at the organ, and Morris Sager, violinist. Miss Chilcote's talent and charm have delighted Marion audiences on a number of occasions and her appearance on the convention program will add a 'pleasurable note to the evening. Mr. Sager has won laurels for himself as a talented violinist both here and in Cleveland where he is a student in the Cleveland Institute of Music.

Miss Elizabeth Wottring, a member of the Lecture-Recital Club, will be heard in a group of delightfully artistic numbers at the conservation banquet to be held at the Masonic Temple Wednesday night. Members of the Canto Club, whose concerts have added materially in placing Marion in the front ranks of musical centers, will present a part of the program at the convention banquet on Thursday night when more than 600 visiting delegates and guests will be assembled. Appearing on the program with the club will be Mrs. Malcolm Strelitz, whose lovely mezzo soprano voice has won her a host of admirers at every appearance.

Canto Club To Sing

Members of the Canto Club, under the direction of Ernst C. Carl, under whose successful direction the club has advanced, will sing for their first group "Bedouin Song," Arthur Foote, "Sweet and Low," Joseph Barnby, and "Invictus," Bruno Huhn. Their second group will include "This Is the Moon of Roses," Victor Harris, "Rolling Down to Rio," Edward German, "Allah's Holiday," from Katinka, Rudolf Friml an "The Bells of St. Mary's," Emmett Adams. Accompaniments will be played by Mrs. Helen Zuck Lacey and Miss Mabel Baldauf.

Mrs. Strelitz has chosen for her group "Cradle Song," MacFadyen, "Voci de Donna," Ponchielli and "The Changeling," Titcomb. She will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Harold K. Mouser.

Mrs. B. D. Osborne and Mrs. Baxter will be in charge of all assembly singing with Mrs. Harry Williams as official accompanist.

FEWER TRAFFIC COURT CASES; 25 CARS TAGGED

Smallest List of Offenses Docketed in Ane One Week of New System

Operation of the new traffic court system recently inaugurated by Municipal Judge Martin is getting results, according to the court records, which shows that the number of autoists charged with violations is steadly decreasing.

During the last week, only 25 cars were tagged by oplice for traffic code offenses, the docket showed when traffic court convened at 9 o'clock today for the usual Friday morning session.

This was the smallest list of offenses docketed in any week since the new system went into effect about two months ago. During the first few weeks, the number of alleged violators averaged between 60 and 70.

15 Motorists Appear

When the traffic court session opened at 9 o'clock, the docket showed that 15 of the 25 owners of tagged cars had put in their appearance. A number of the cases were dismissed and cash bonds were filed in other cases scheduled for hearing later.

Practically all of the machines were tagged for parking violations and dismissals were ordered by Judge Martin in all cases where the records showed that it was the first time the car owners had been called into court.

One of the autoists lived in Columbus and the others were Marion residents.

BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits have been issued from the office of the city clerk to Thomas Miller for construction of a brooder house at 534 Davids-st at an estimated cost of $40, Rolland Beeman, remodeling a porch at 141 McWilliams-et, $200, and Miss Winona Hughes, a garage at 259 W. Church-st, $200.

LEGION PLANNING FOR DISTRICT MEMBER DRIVE

Local Representatives Will Attend Conference in Columbus Sunday

Representatives of Budd McGinnis Post, No. 162, of the American Legion, will attend a legion conference to be held at Memorial Hall, Columbus, Sunday afternoon, for the purpose of discussing plans of a general membership campaign proposed for the Central Ohio district.

According to preliminary arrangements, the campaign will start May 1 and close May 14, with all legion posts in the district taking part. District officials believe that this method will be much more effectual than having each post conduct its own campaign independently.

Membership in the Central Ohio district is the smallest in the state, the district officers state and they hope to increase the enrollment so that it will compare more favorably with other districts.

L. D. Jones, who was recently elected commander of Budd McGinnis Post, and T. E. Kinnear, adjutant, have made arrangements to attend the conference and it is expected that a number of others from the city will accompany them. The conference is to open at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

There is a fly in the ointment, and there is a cold spot in many a man's love. It's selfishness.
